What has Thornridge been for us? Surely it has been something different for each student. For some it has been the completion of their formal education; for others Thornridge has been only the beginning of it. For still others it has been the testing ground separating those with desire and strength from those who lack these qualities.

To take a bewildered and undecided freshman and transform him into a free thinking, yet rational, young adult is the goal of every high school. In almost all cases our school has accomplished this. But Thornridge has been more than just a factory for producing tomorrow's ruling generation . . .

New Students and Parents Meet Thornridge

"Attention! You're in Thornridge now!" was the welcome given to the freshmen students attending the New Student Orientation. "New recruits" were welcomed by Mr. Augustus and Mr. Tilton. Major clubs were introduced by their "top brass." Old "veterans" put on clever skits to introduce club qualifications.

A change of pace was the scene in the Thornridge halls and classrooms as the parents "sat in" on P&TA's Open House. It was a night of remembering as well as learning for the mom and dads as they attended the classes of their children to see the difference between "then" and "now."

SCOT president, George Sampson, welcomed new students.

TR Competes On TV

A three man team consisting of Jim Fuerhmeyer, George Budwash, and Jim McGinness represented Thornridge on "It's Academic."

To prepare the team members for the competition, teachers intensively coached them many long hours during the summer and after school to test their knowledge and skill at answering questions quickly.

The team brought back second place honors to Thornridge.

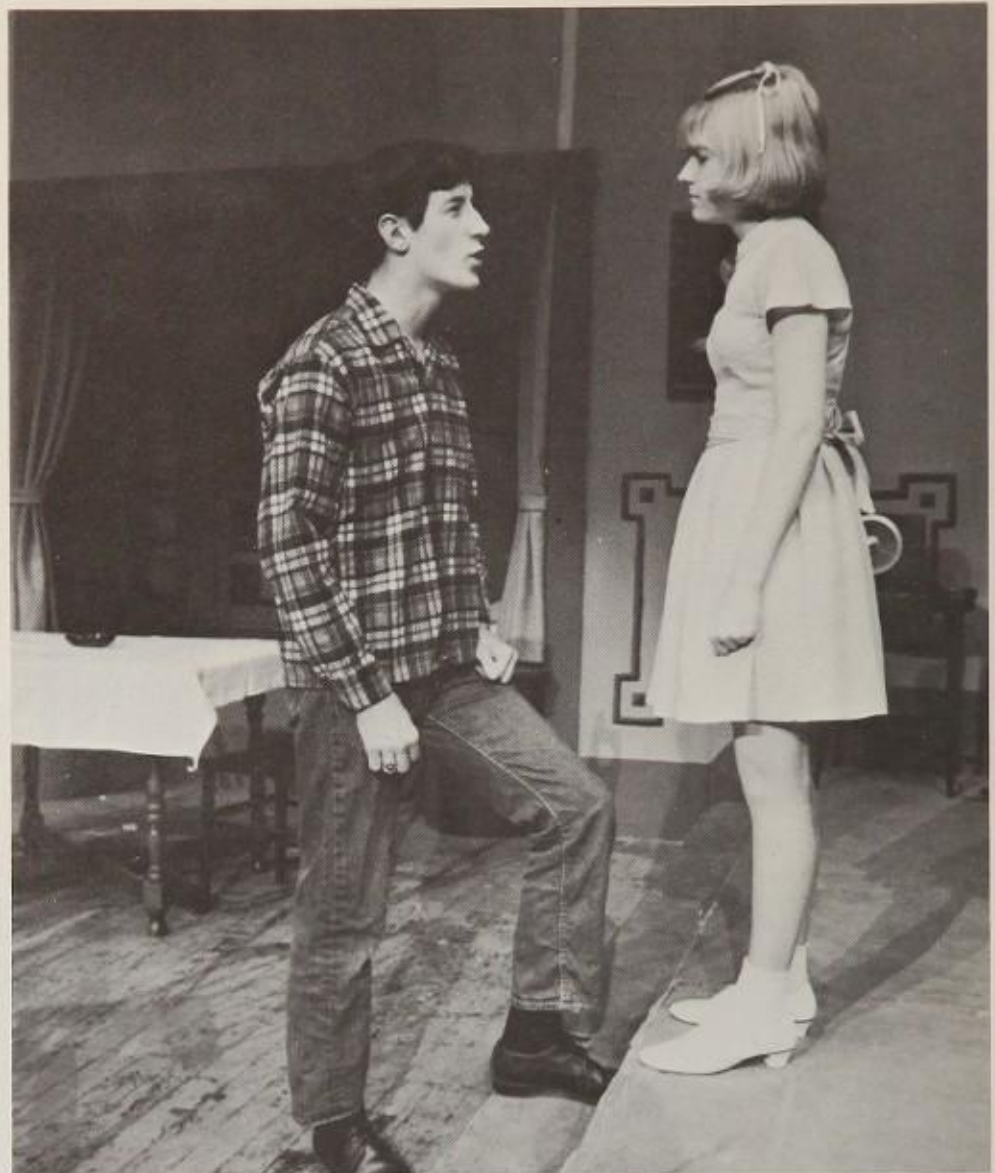

The teams awaited the next question.

A quarrel started between Leroy, Brant Larsen, and Rhoda, Mary Rygasiewicz.

Melodrama Mystifies Audience

A small New England town was the setting for the fall play production of The Bad Seed, a suspenseful melodrama about a child murderer. This intriguing story was originally a Broadway production which was later made into a movie. The cast of characters included Maribeth Magnuson as Christine Penmark, Mary Rygasiewicz as Rhoda Penmark, and Debbie Thomas as Monica Breedlove. Directing the play was Mr. John Malloy. The Bad Seed was the beginning of a successful theatrical season for Thornridge.

The stage crew, Ken Corbett, Mary Langwinski and Jeanne Berger, diligently worked to finish the set.

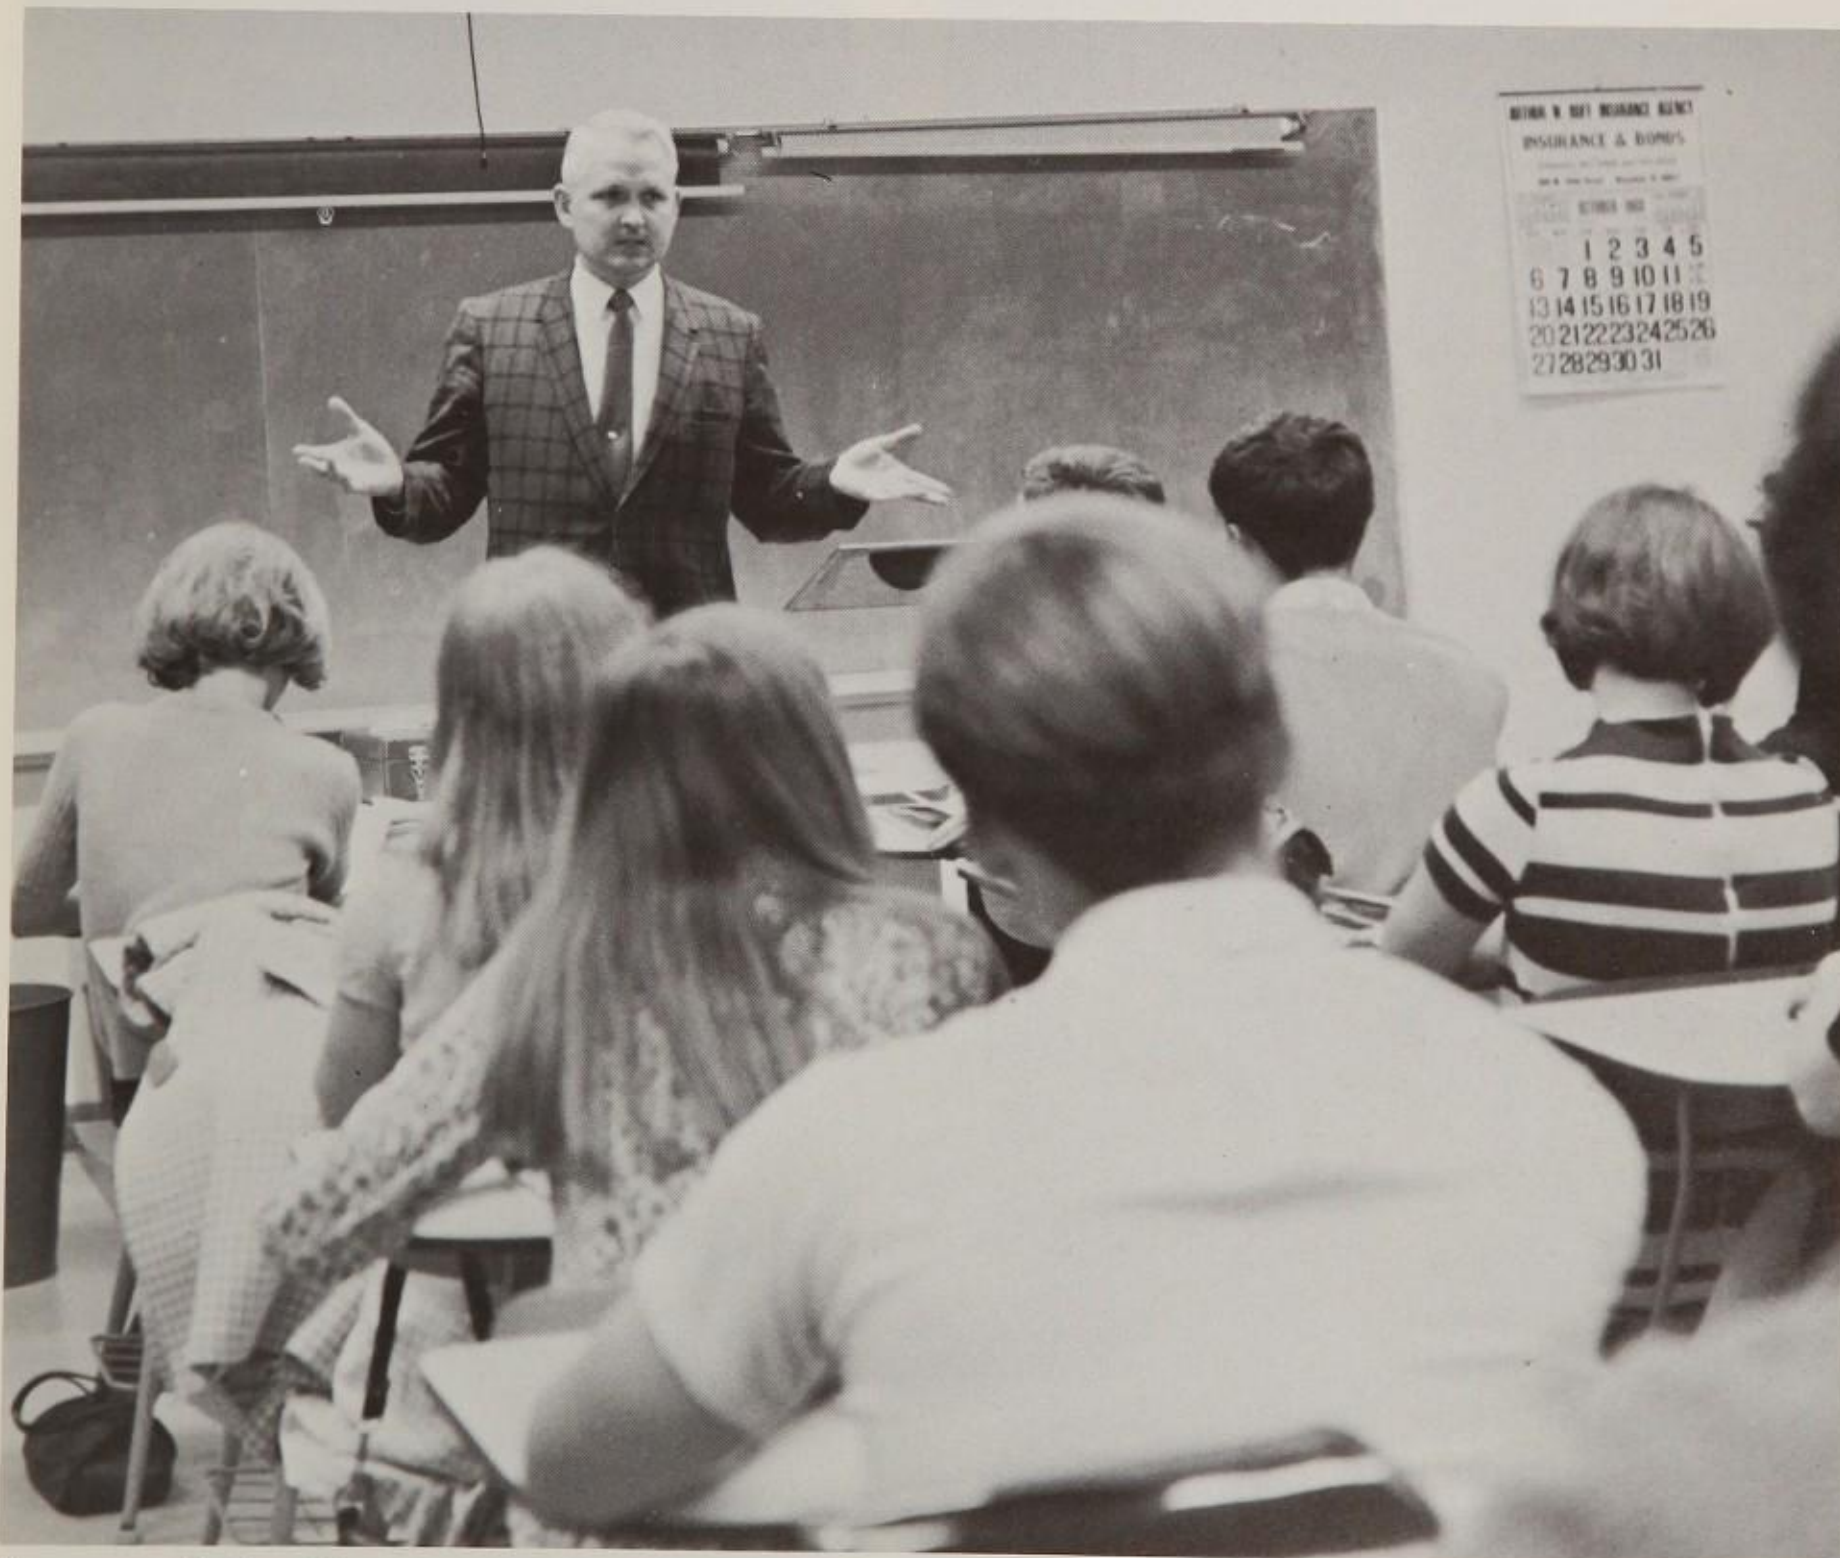

Richard Bravo, Gary Mion, knew what his daughter, Maribeth Magnuson, was thinking.

Knowledge About College

The one night of the year when students and their parents can visit various admission counselors is College Night. This year fifty-five different colleges and universities came to Thornridge to explain entrance requirements, financial aids, and campus facilities. College Night, held early in the school year, gave upper-classmen an insight into what college life is all about.

The representative from Illinois State explained admission procedures.

Grads Join "Safari"

A jungle atmosphere dominated "Safari," this year's Homecoming. Various clubs competed in making displays; at the Friday afternoon pep assembly it was announced that Thespians had won in the minor division and the Key Club in the major division.

Festivities continued that night as crowds packed the stands to view our Falcons battle the Bloom Trojans. The game began with the annual balloon blast, followed by the kick-off. Aerial bombs were fired after every Falcon touchdown. With half-time came the long-awaited announcement of king and queen. Russ Moreland and Sue Anderson were proclaimed our royal twosome and reigned for the rest of the week-end. The crowd celebrated the 34 to 6 Falcon victory at the Fling, with the "Theodore Telephone."

Surrounded by vines and orchids, head-hunters and natives greeted the couples at "Distant Drums," the Saturday night dance. At this time the crowning of Sue Anderson and Russ Moreland climaxed Thornridge's Eighth Annual Homecoming weekend.

Our Hearts Belong To Daddy

"Our Hearts Belong to Daddy" was the theme for the Dad-Daughter Playnite. Girls brought their dads to this evening of activities sponsored by Girls Club. Swimming, basketball, tug-of-war and dance contests were just a few of the activities provided for the couples. All dads, whether they were spectators or active participants, enjoyed the events. Near the end of the evening all survivors hobbled to the cafeteria for refreshments.

Dad-daughter trio scooted along.

A helping hand was lent to an amateur gymnast.

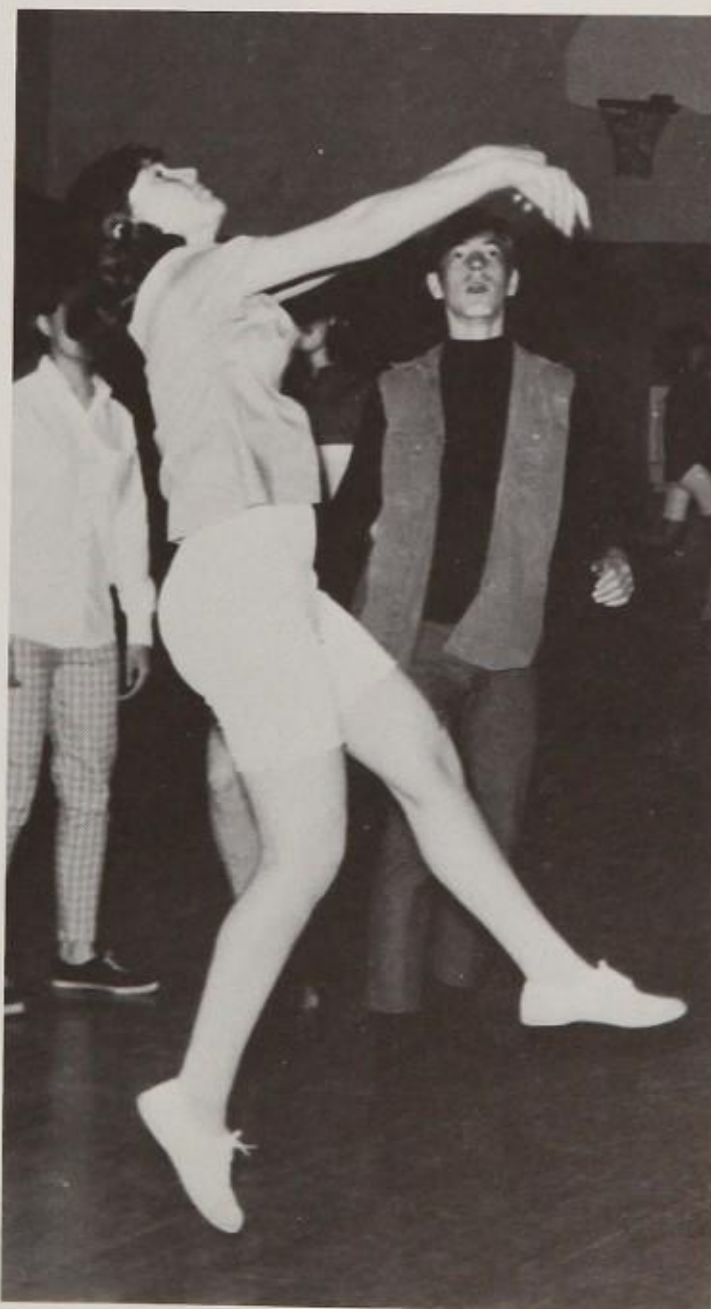

Excitement Rocks The Gym

Gym jams, with such vigorous activities as volleyball and basketball, presented a challenge to the sports-minded. Cheering spectators backed their favorite players. Cage ball became the newest form of exercise to the delight of all. After such strenuous activities, many students took a quick dip in the pool. For those less inclined athletically, games of table tennis and shuffleboard were offered. Any excess energy left in the students was burned off at the dances following the gym jams.

27

An enthusiastic player rebounded the ball.

A new dance was invented?

The "10th Dimension" "souled" out.

What's "Happening" At Thornridge?

28 "The Happening," the last fling of the year, was the climax of the Thornridge-Thornton Basketball game. After being on opposite sides at the game, the students joined each other for a night of dancing to underground music by "The 10th Dimension." The flashing lights and eery shadows provided a psychedelic atmosphere for the capacity crowd.

The SCOT "Happening" drew a capacity crowd.

Ginny Wilhelmson finished loading her tray.

Thornridge Welcomes UNITED NATIONS

Brazil, Holland, and France were just a few of the many countries represented at the annual AFS Spaghetti Dinner. Besides the annual dinner, the AFS exchange students stayed for the rest of the weekend with their hosts. After the spaghetti dinner, the visitors and their hosts attended the Thornton game and "The Happening."

The next day the guests and their hosts traveled downtown to the University of Chicago. Following a lunch in the loop, there was a guided tour through the Oriental Museum, which proved quite interesting to many students. Everyone, especially the exchange students, agreed that the weekend was both worthwhile and interesting.

Three faculty members; Mr. Graham, Mr. Bauc, and Mr. Dwyer; enjoyed a dinner away from home.

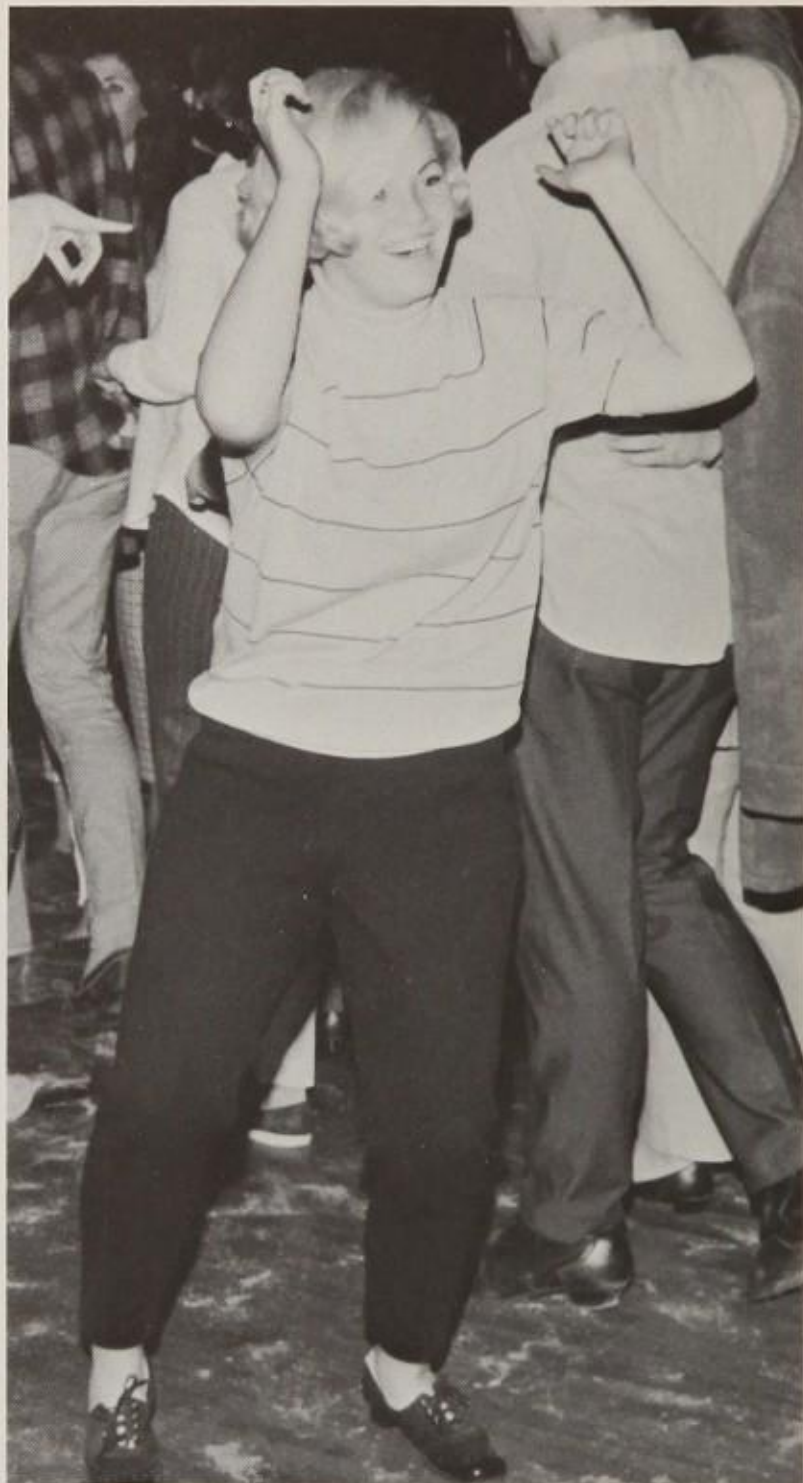

Flings Climax Evenings

Dim lights and slippery, sawdusted floors provided the right atmosphere for Thornridge flings. After football games crowds of shivering students awaited entrance to the warming entertainment. Flings were also held at the conclusion of basketball games. The "Real Thing" and the "Other Side" were two of the groups that performed at the Flings, which were sponsored by the Highlanders.

Fling entertainment was provided by "The Other Side."

A student demonstrated her own dance techniques.

The victory over Eisenhower was climaxed with a fling.

*Bill, remember all of our women talks ~~and~~ and of course look at me doing my thing on Page 30 and Page 11 I refer back them no and Thornridge spirit rose high.

Assemblies Entertain, Inform

Thornridge students attended two types of assemblies: all school and special group assemblies.

The all school assemblies, held in the gymnasium, were mainly pep assemblies, which helped stimulate school spirit. At these, the cheerleaders and the band excited students with such cheers as "Battle Cry" and "Onward," TR's school song.

Special group assemblies included debate, driver education, music, registration and S.C.O.T. programs. These gatherings gave information, as well as entertainment, to interested students.

John Tanis handed Jan Youga a forgotten piece of luggage.

Theater-In-The-Round Attracts Audiences

Theatergoers had a pleasant surprise at the winter play, Take Her She's Mine. The comedy performed by the Thornridge Theater Guild was done in theater-in-the-round style. The audience completely encircled the actors and were thus able to view the action from all sides.

Take Her She's Mine, written by Phoebe and Henry Ephron, was the story of a young, college-bound girl, Jan Youga, and the ensuing problems her parents, Patti Ross and John Tanis, had to face. She later returned home with a different outlook about life, her parents, and herself. With the combined efforts of the members of the Theater Guild and the new theater-in-the-round style, Thornridge once again produced a first rate play.

Judy Storey and Gail Frey watched as Jan Youga conversed with a friend.

Students watched the background effects provided by "The Colored Rain."

Thornridge Hosts An "American Breed"

Hundreds of students crowded the main gym on January 23 for the annual Boys Club Record Hop. Excellent harmony reflected the new sound of "The American Breed" in "Step Out of Your Mind," "Bend Me, Shape Me," and "Gimme the Green Light." The back-up group, "The Coloured Rain," with vibrating sounds and psychedelic lighting, projected a sample of underground music. WLS "Superjock," Larry Lujack, emceed the show.

Besides dancing and watching the groups perform, some students competed in the talent contest. Paul Pearson won with his feat of fifty push-ups.

Getting to meet "The American Breed" and "The Coloured Rain" added the finishing touches to the evening's entertainment.

A sample of underground music provided entertainment.

33

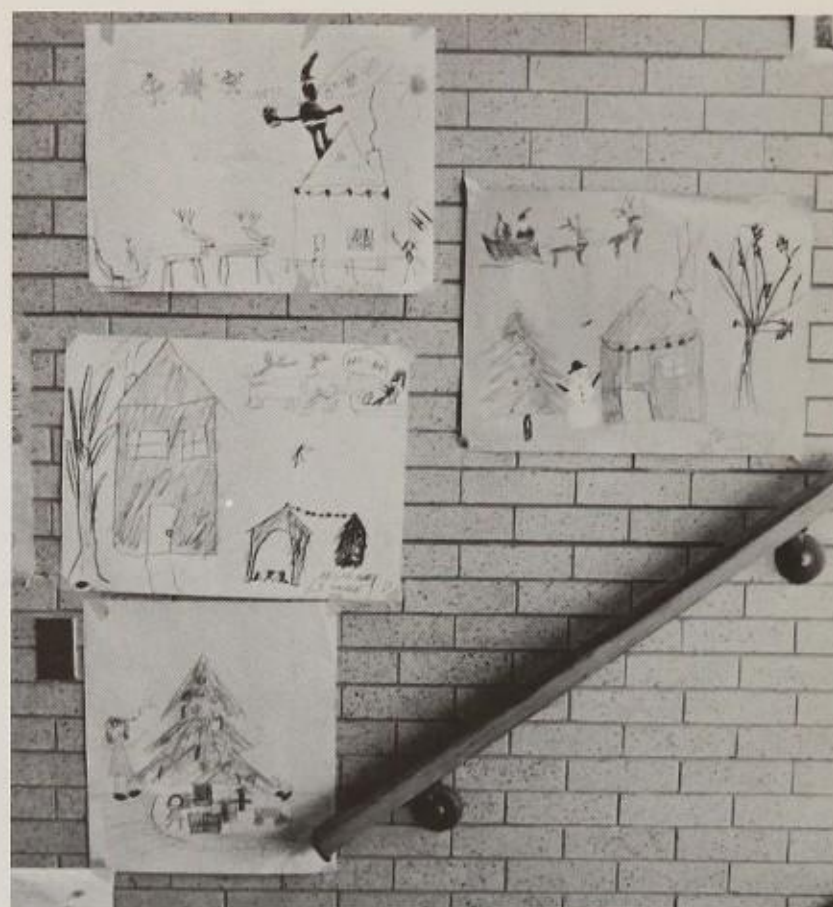

Dancers vibrated to the sounds of "The American Breed."

Christmas Brings Concerts And Decorations

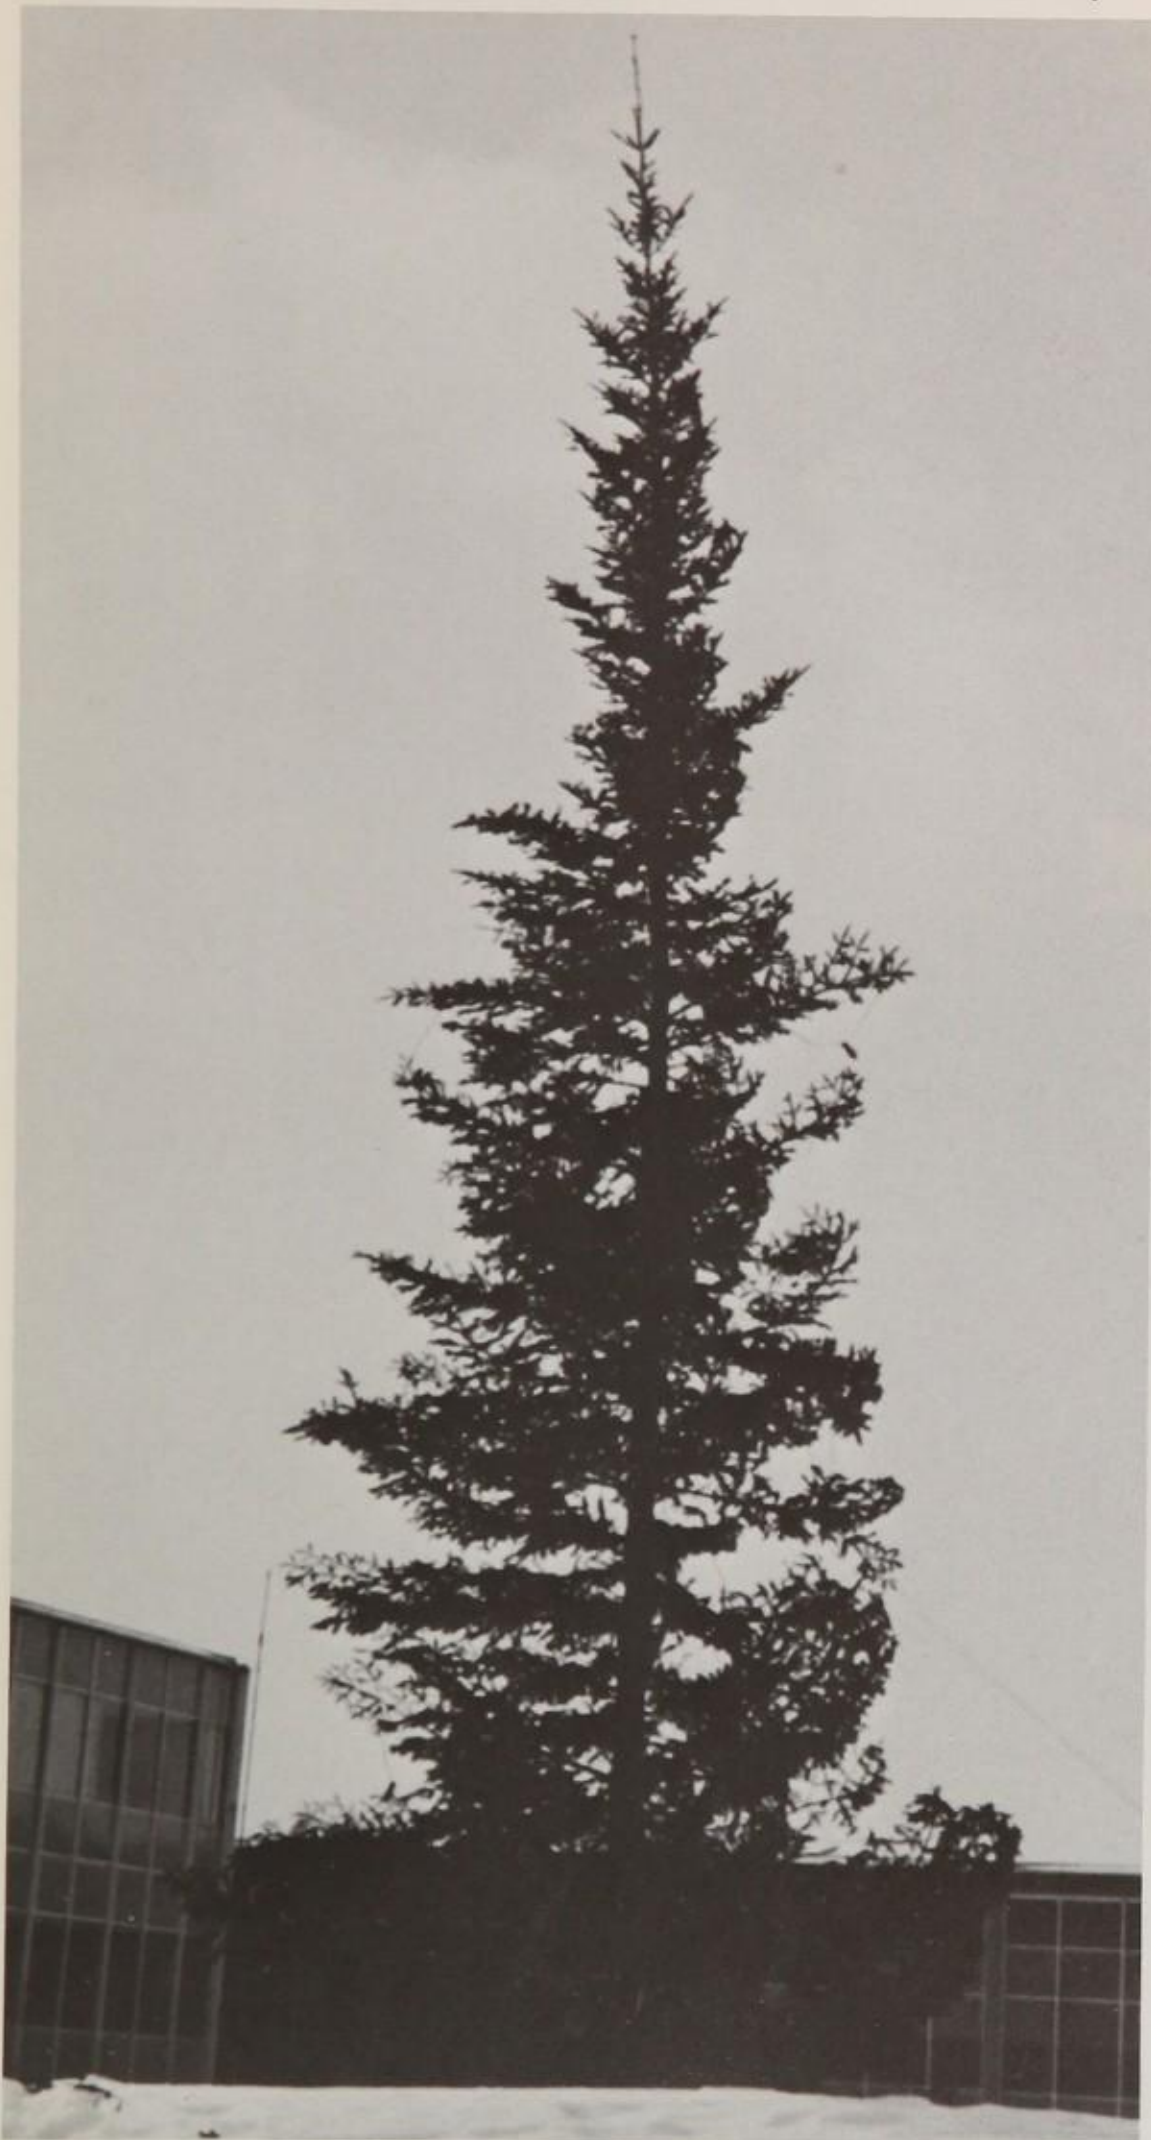

The annual Christmas concert put on by the Music Department opened Christmas week with the traditional song, "Oh Come All Ye Faithful." Different organizations contributed to the Yuletide spirit during the week. Besides decorating the courtyard with a twenty Foot Christmas tree, SCOT once again carried on its annual Christmas Project, which provided food for needy families. The area around the main office was decorated with lights, while the Art Department decorated the auditorium breezeway. Many classrooms had their own Christmas trees. The Bagpipe also furnished a double issue of the paper printed in red and green. The final school week of the year came to a close as students and teachers left to enjoy the long awaited vacation.

Advanced art students produced original works.

Art students decorated the breezeway with a Thornridge Christmas scene.

SCOT provided the twenty foot Christmas tree in the courtyard for the student body.

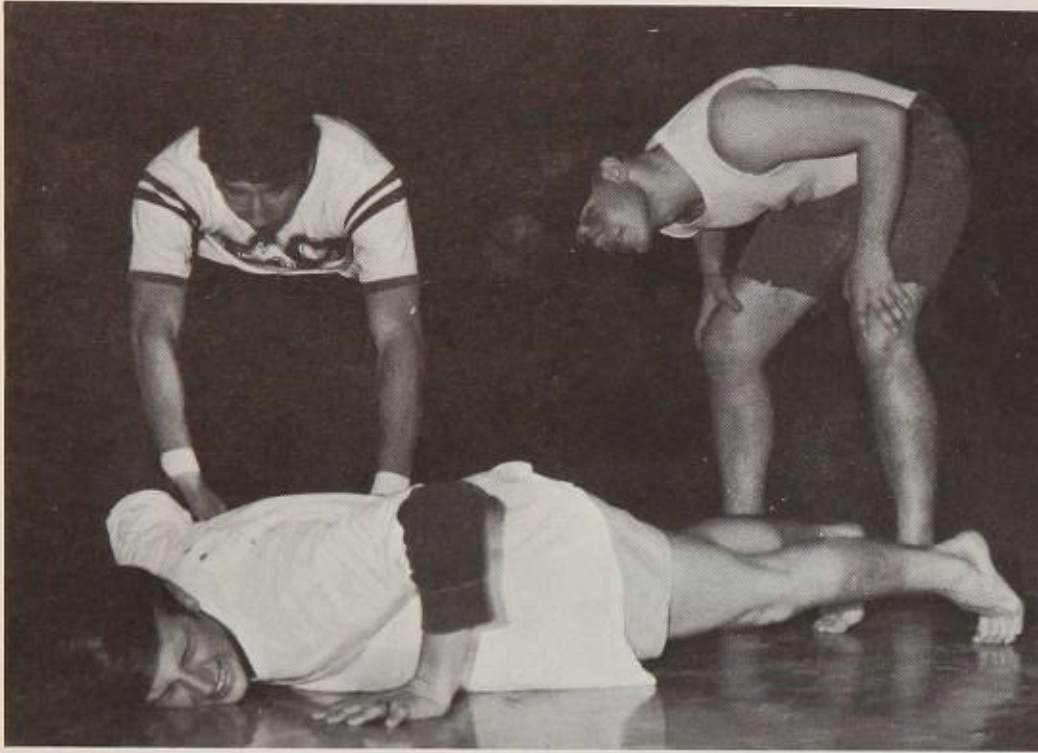

35

Art classes drew different scenes from
The Christmas Carol.

Mr. Jewett and Miss Beers won "The Dating Game."

Rich Cannon and Keith Heitmann checked Jim Tippin's pushups.

The faculty cheerleaders sang their own version of "Onward."

Miss Goldbogen and Mr. Malloy entered the "Best Dressed Teachers" contest.

SCOT Takes Five . . .

For a one week exclusive area engagement in February, Thornridge presented SCOT Week. By popular demand the feature attractions were: "Hang 'Em High," "Good Neighbor Sam," "Advise and Consent," "War and Peace," "The Truth About Spring," and "Gone With the Wind." Large crowds were attracted to daily matinees. Patrons' attire changed from western style to army fatigues to casual wear.

The stage was alive with gallows; colors of red, white and blue; and flowers. Audiences munched on lollipops and baked goods while watching the shows. Intermission brought push-up contests, "Lone Ranger" episodes, and patriotic discussions.

With the closing production, theater critics rated the attractions "S" . . . For Spirited Students Only!

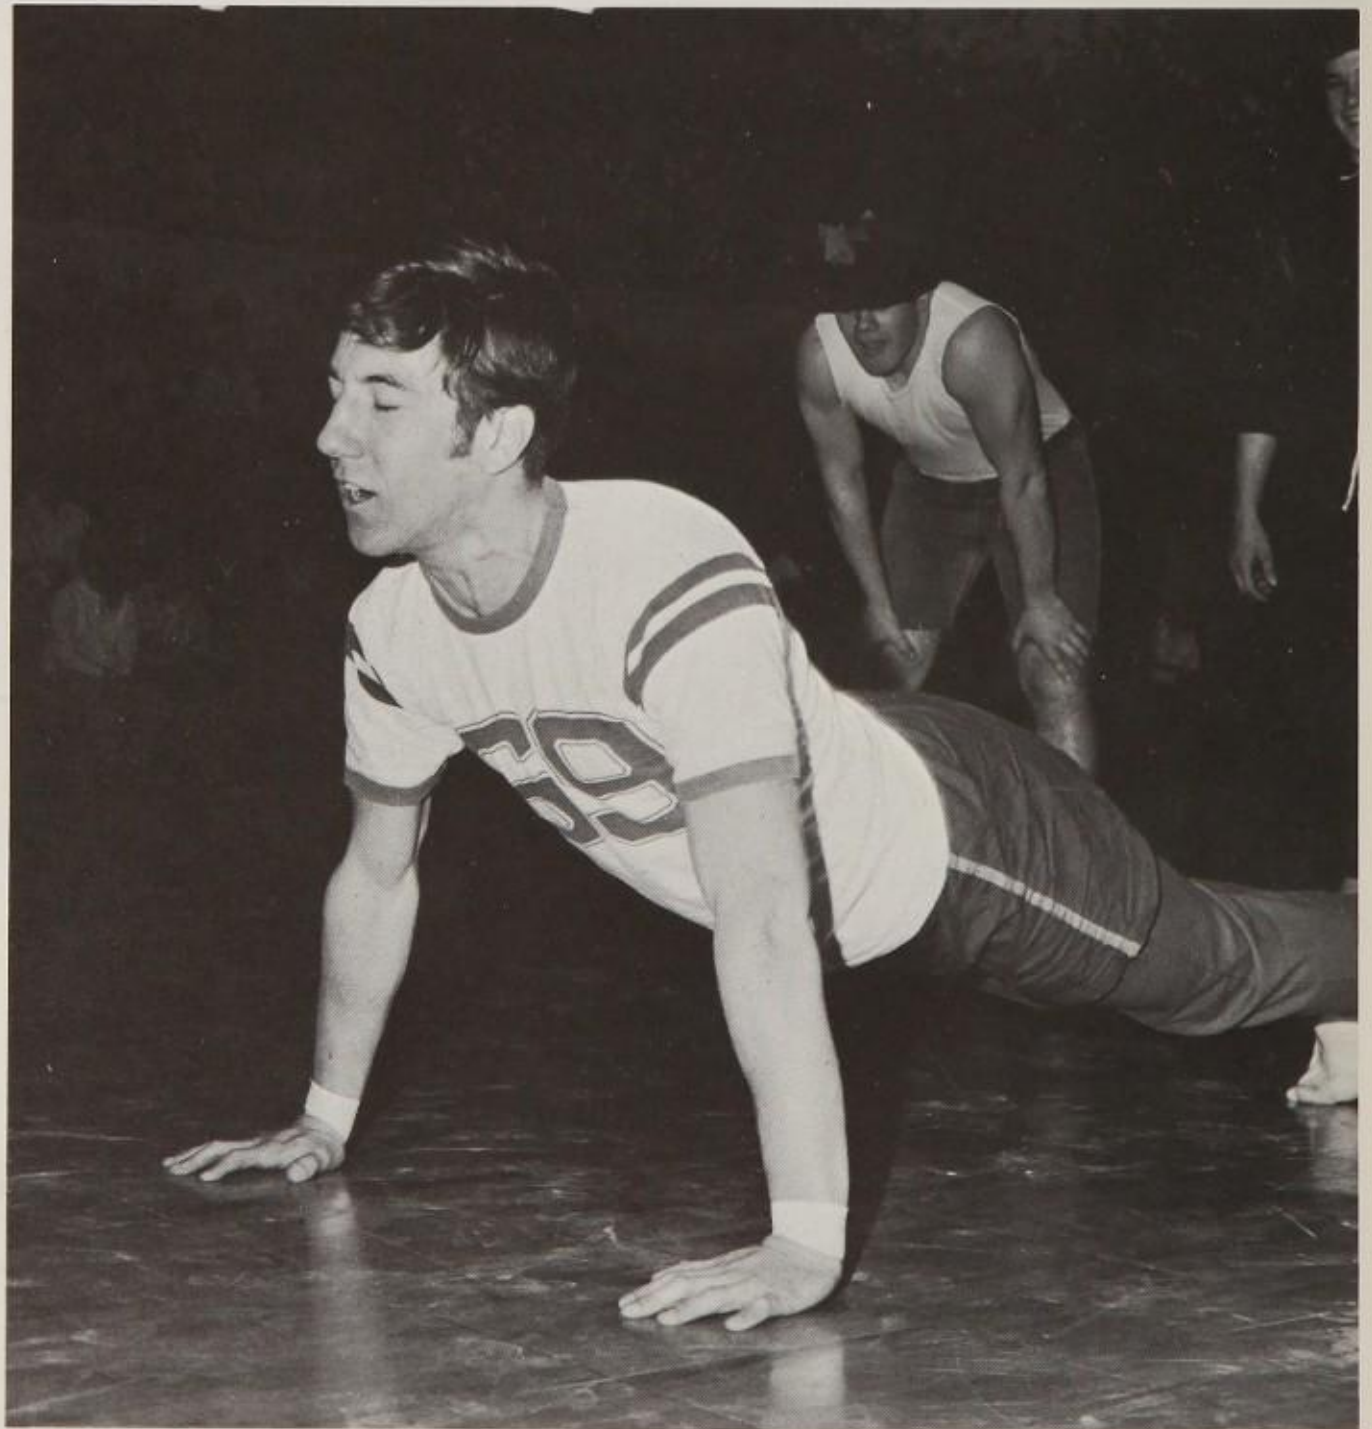

Mrs. Brennan danced to the music of "The Stripper."

Mrs. Cuneo made her entrance on a tricycle.

... For Mature

Mr. McCune accepted a pie from the sophomore class.

The push-up contest challenged all.

Kathy Marqua sported fatigues on "War and Peace" day.

Falcons vowed to "Hang Em High."

39

Mr. Ricks answered student questions on "Advise and Consent" day.

Spring Brings A Carnival

A carnival came to Thornridge last year, but mainly for those in the "theatre going" group. James Thurber's A Thurber Carnival was a bit different from most other Thornridge productions. One of the differences was the addition of a four man jazz quartet, "The Frank Derrick Quartet." At one time the musicians themselves actually appeared on stage. The stage setting consisted of three revolving eight-foot stages, which enabled scene changes to be made in a matter of seconds. The carnival type atmosphere helped put A Thurber Carnival on the list of Thornridge theatre greats.

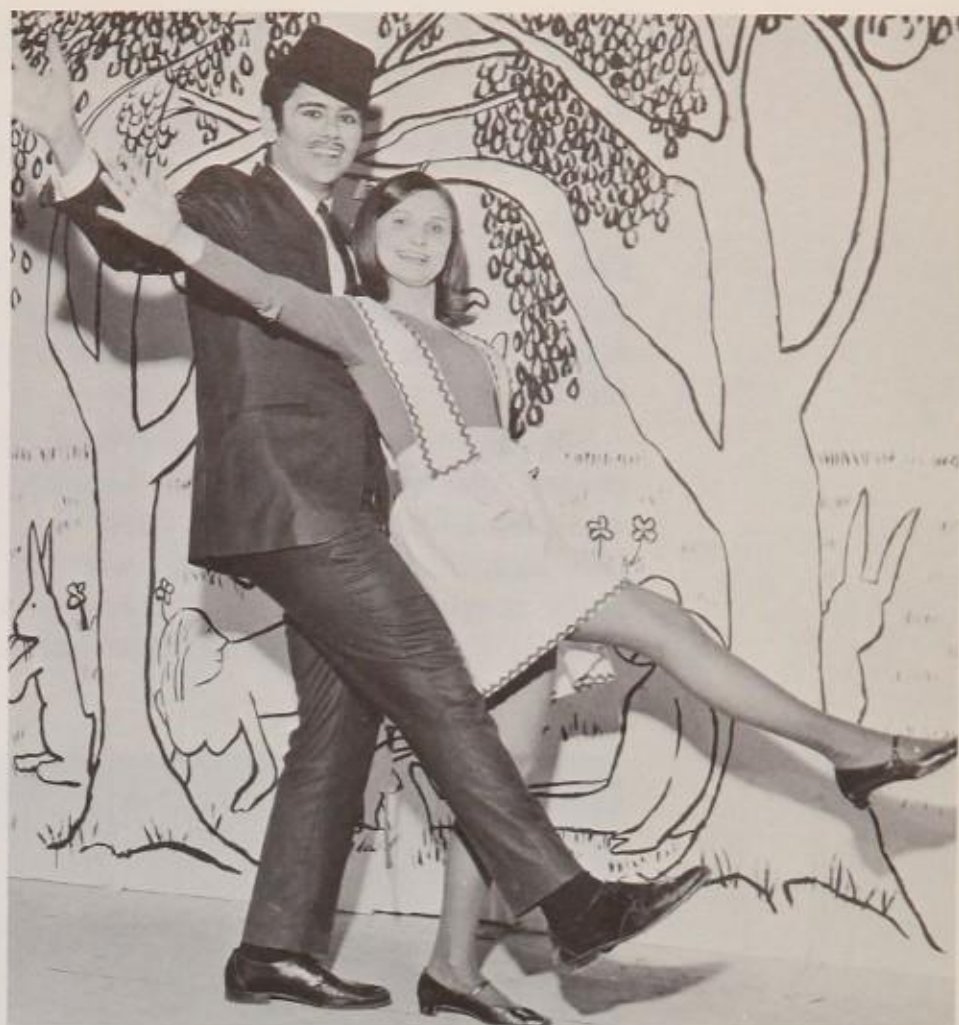

As the audience gripped their seats, Dr. Walter Mitty performed the operation.

Once friends . . . now married.

Little Red Riding Hood, Karen Keiss, and the Big Bad Wolf, Gary Mion, danced to grandmother's house.

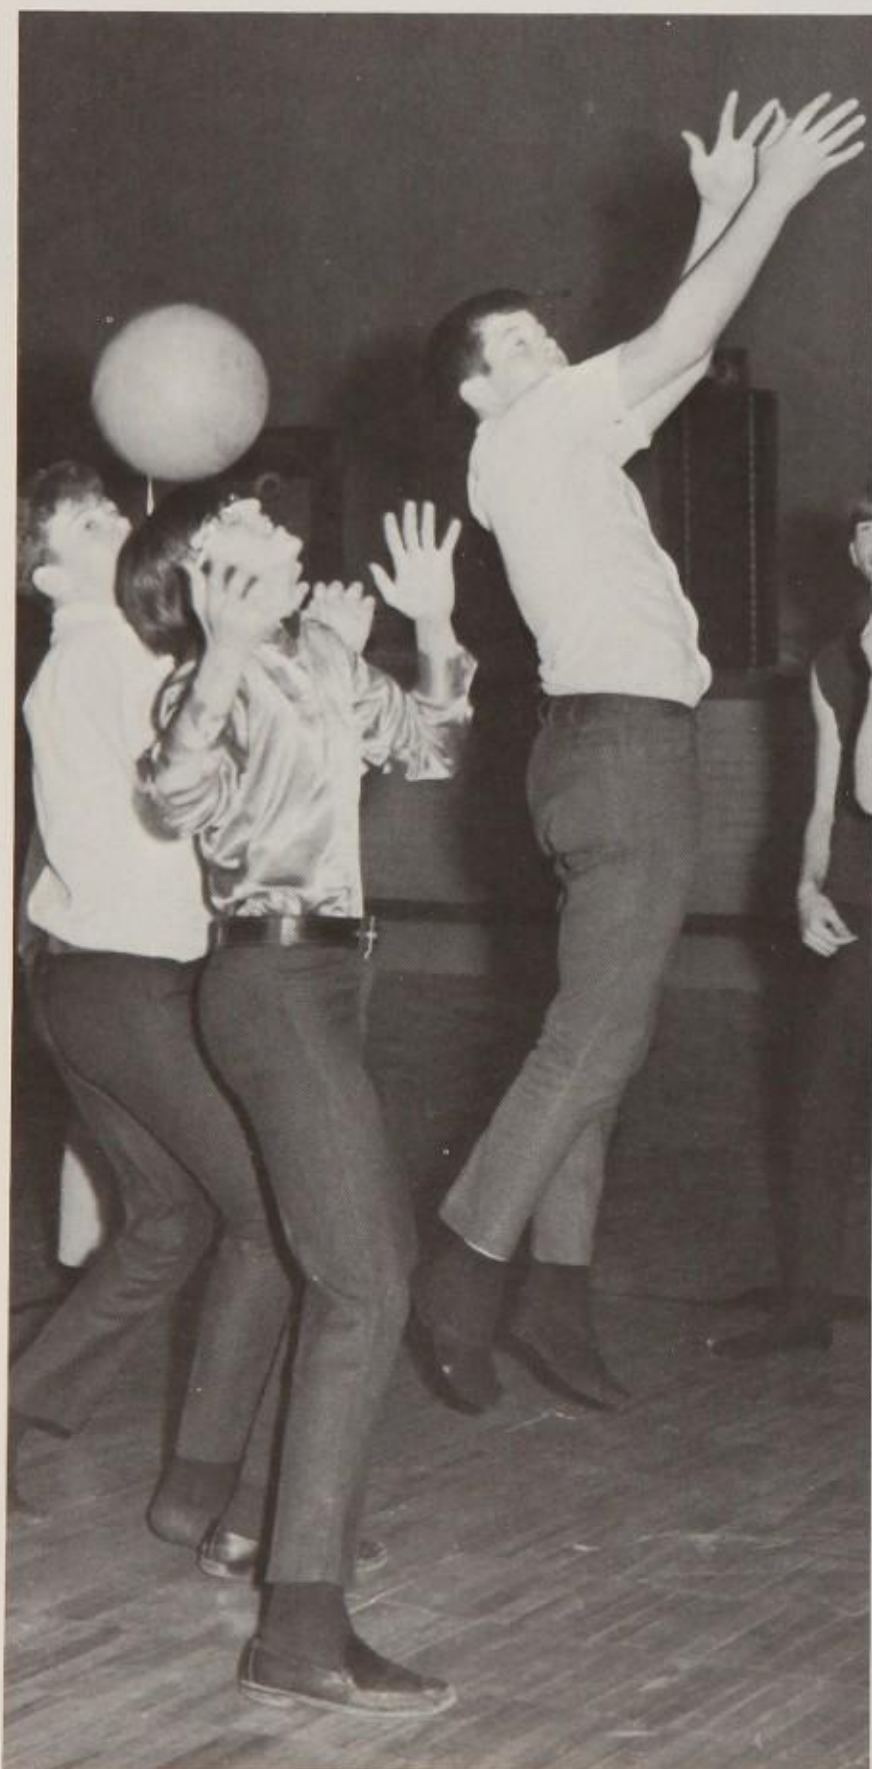

James Thurber, Brant Larsen, presented the story.

Key Club Kaper And Frosh-Soph Party Swing

Being billed as the last dance of the year, the Key Club Kaper brought out an enthusiastic mood in the students. They gathered for one last time to hear the music of "The Revised Edition" and "The Henchmen."

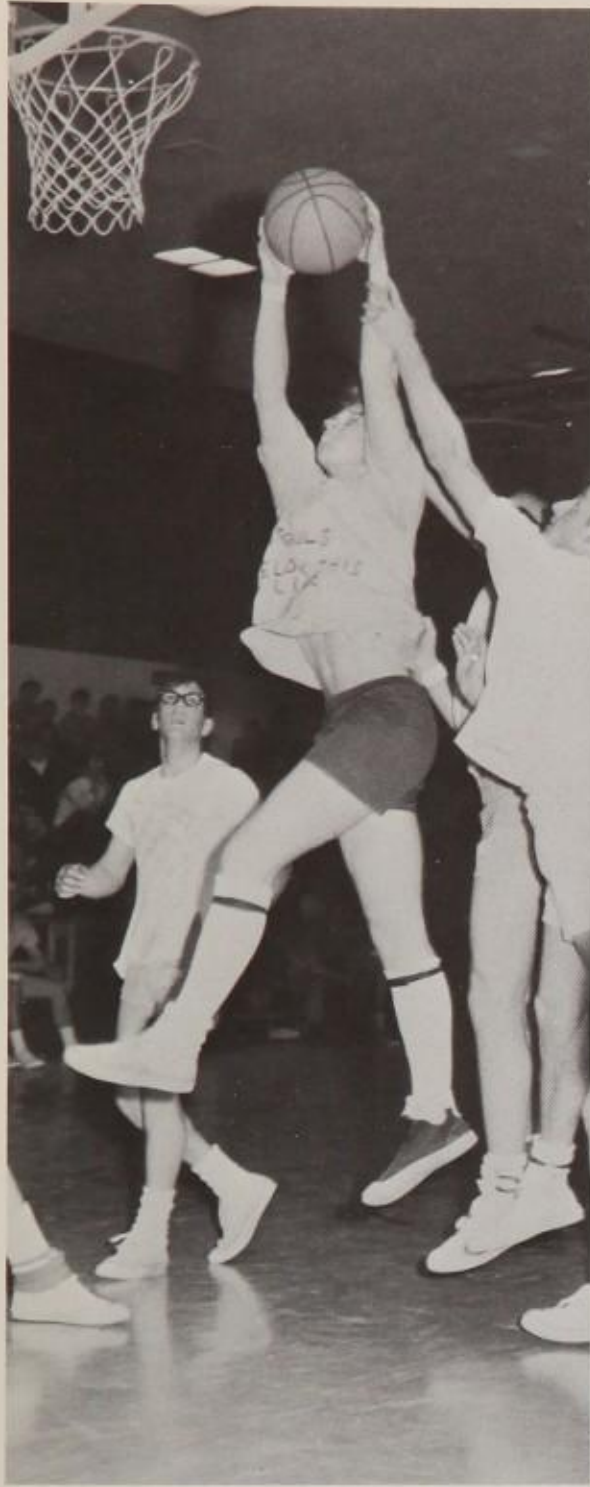

One night last year was set aside to honor two classes, the freshmen and the sophomores. On this night the annual Frosh-Soph Party was held. Volleyball, basketball, and trampolines were just a few of the many activities offered. At a dance held later in the evening, "The Theodore Telephone" entertained.

Students demonstrated basketball techniques.

A student struggled in rebounding the ball.

Students And Faculty Break Even

"One Night Stand" was an appropriate theme for the Student Faculty showdown. This was the true test of skill and strength. Faculty cheerleaders gave their moral support, while other teachers participated in the annual battle between the students and faculty. Did the faculty hold its own? Scores show they broke even.

The evening's entertainment was topped off with the "Greatest Show on Earth," which featured "The Real Thing."

Born to be wild?

Faculty cheerleaders demonstrated enthusiasm.

Mr. Guthrie led faculty cheers.

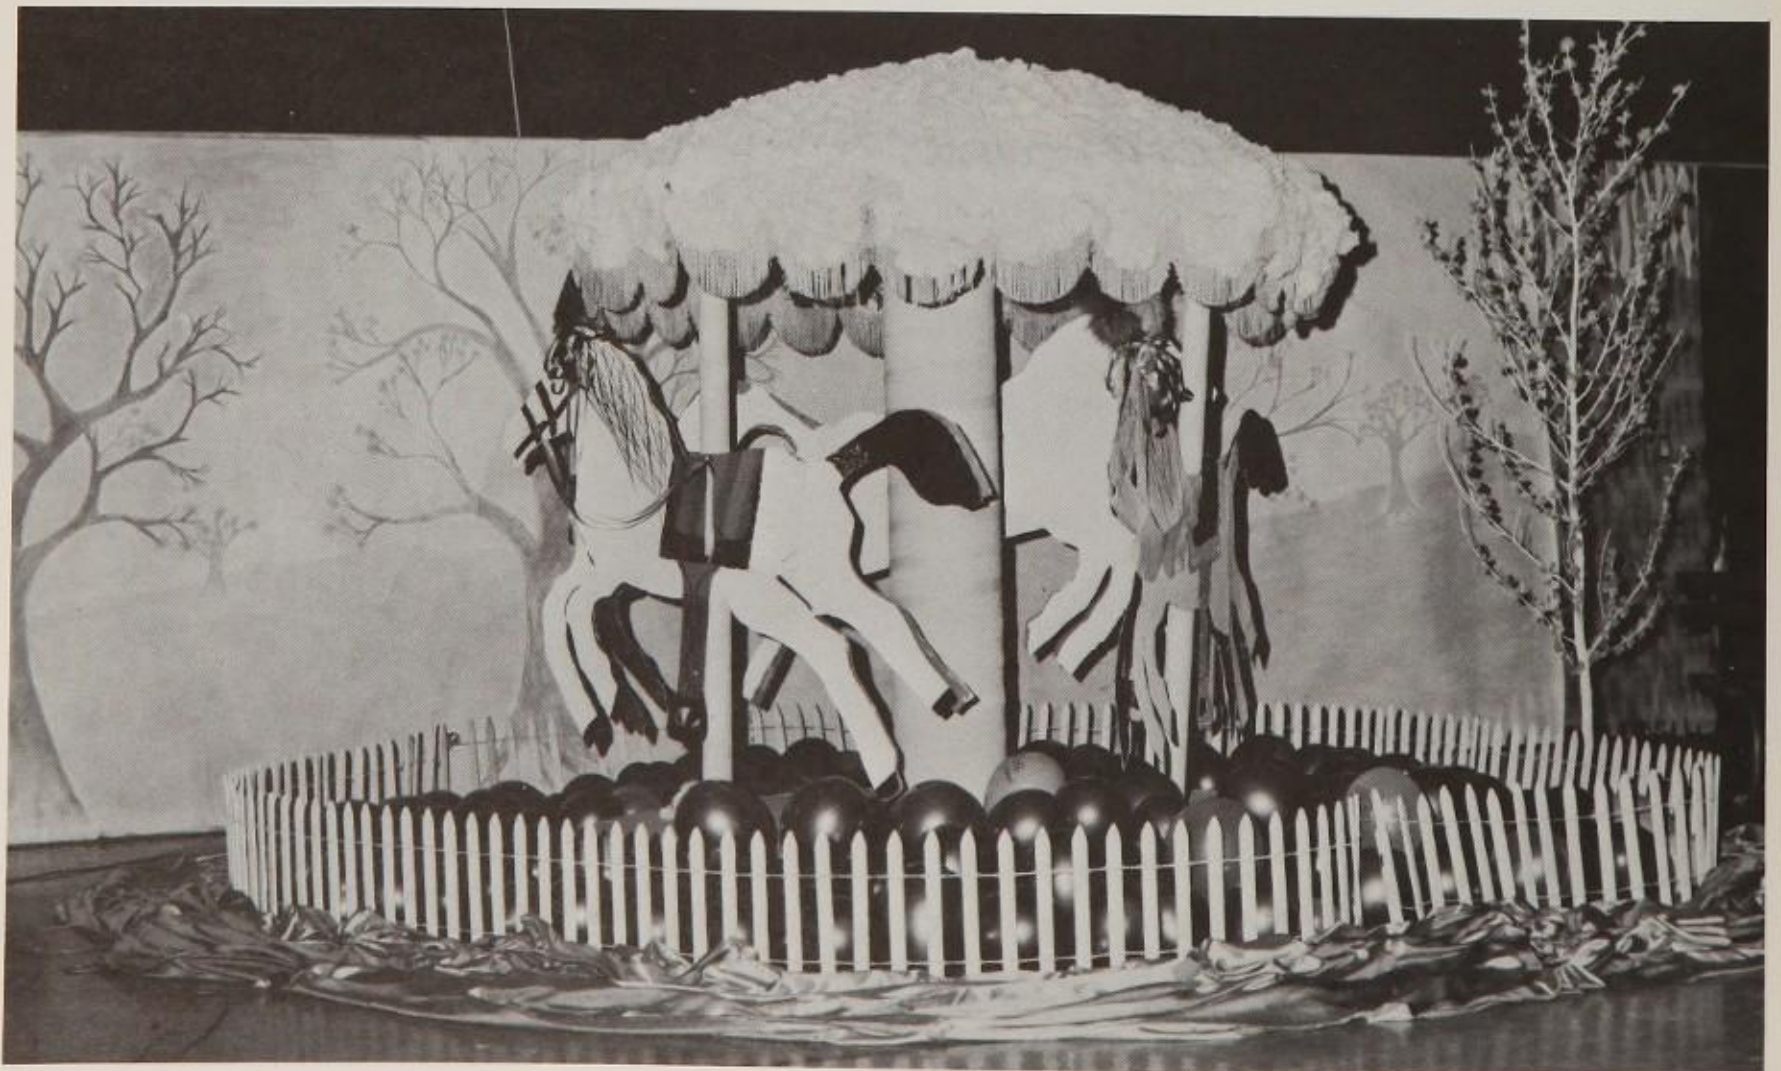

The Coronation Dance was led by the 1969 King, Dann Lobsinger.

Couples Ride On A "Carousel"

With the approach of spring, Girls Club once again presented its annual turnabout dance. Girls invited their favorite young man to the March 14 affair.

Couples entered a carnival through a tunnel of love. Trees, wrought-iron benches, and a picturesque "Carousel" made of bright pinks, greens, and purples accentuated the evening atmosphere. Under suspended balloons, Bud Dinwiddie provided music for dancing.

The entertainment segment, consisting of singing and creative dancing skits, was highlighted by the presentation of the 1969 Dance Court. The Master and Mistress of Ceremony, Bob Sartori and Maribeth Magnuson, announced the four boys chosen by the girls to represent each class. Dean Anderson and Marty Strubel were the freshmen and sophomore representatives, while juniors and seniors chose Keith Whitman and Bob Liss. Reigning over all was the King, Dann Lobsinger.

White horses, colorful balloons, and a pink umbrella created the Thornridge "Carousel."

Clowns, Thelma and Teresa Rosenblatt, danced before the audience.

Judy Storey sang "Watch What Happens," as part of the evening's entertainment.

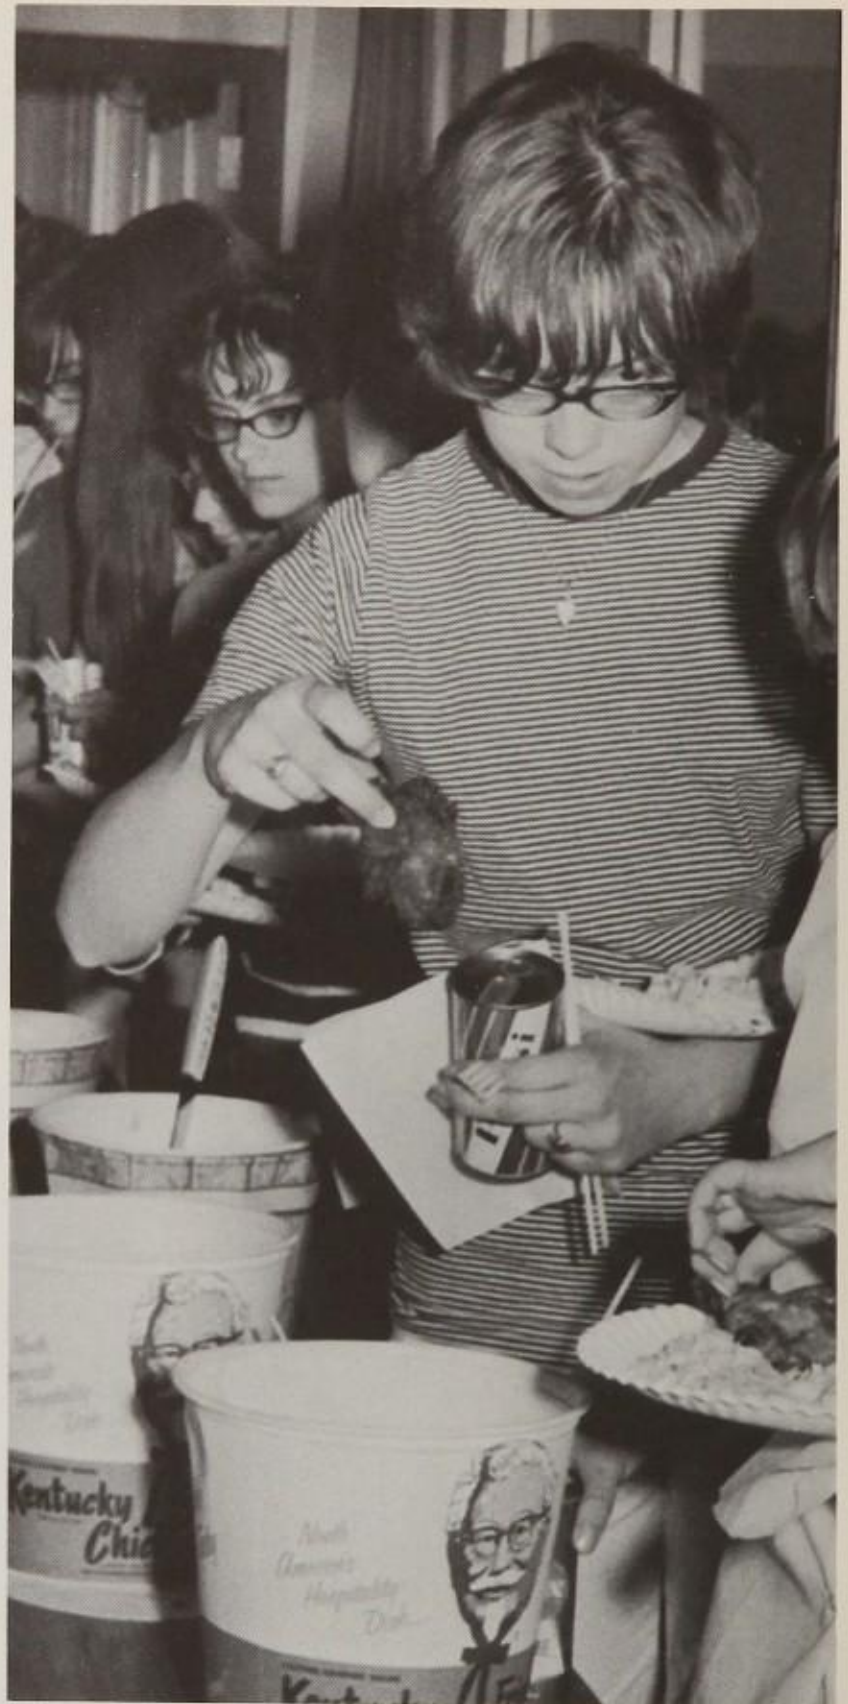

Balloons provided souvenirs for couples.

G.A.A. Holds Picnic Indoors

Kentucky Fried Chicken, potato salad, and a sheet cake were on the menu for the annual G.A.A. picnic. After the dinner members participated in volleyball, basketball, and jogging.

Due to the unfavorable weather, the picnic was held in the gym. Awards were presented to those girls who completed three or more sports seasons during the past school year, with trophies being awarded to those who had placed first in each sport. During the picnic new board members were introduced and installed. All in all, G.A.A. members concluded a highly successful year with a delicious meal and vigorous activity.

Girls helped themselves to chicken and potato salad.

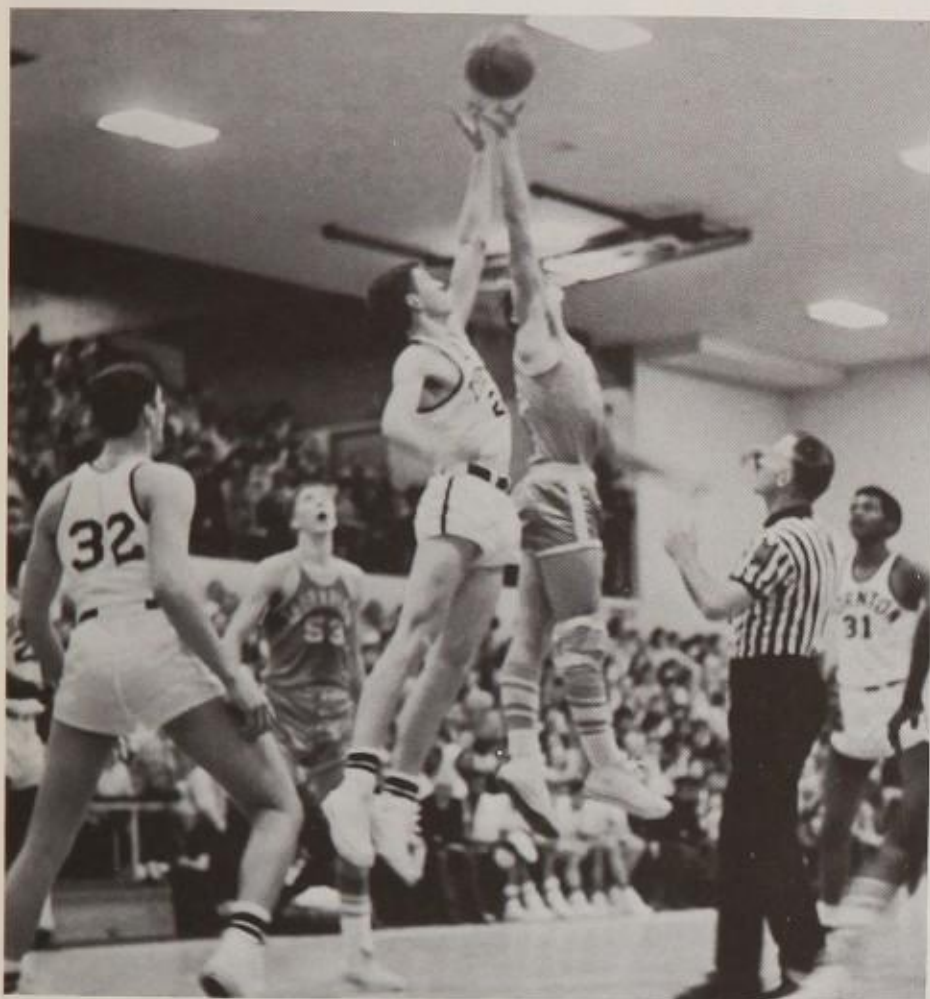

Mrs. Bengston selected a piece of chicken.

Rainy weather moved the G.A.A. picnic indoors.

John Moore outjumped Thornton opponent.

Thornridge Hosts Regionals

For the fourth time Thornridge hosted the regional basketball tournament. Schools from the surrounding areas participated in the competition. Among these were Tinley Park, Thornton Fractional South, Thornton Fractional North, Illiana, Bremen, Hillcrest, Thornton, and Thornridge. Thornton defeated Thornridge 73-46 to take the regional championship.

The regional tournament was one of the most significant athletic events of the entire school year. Not only did it promote good sportsmanship, but it also provided several hours of entertainment for all who attended.

Falcon Tom Hoese attempted to make a basket.

Judge John Steele seemed pleased with the project.

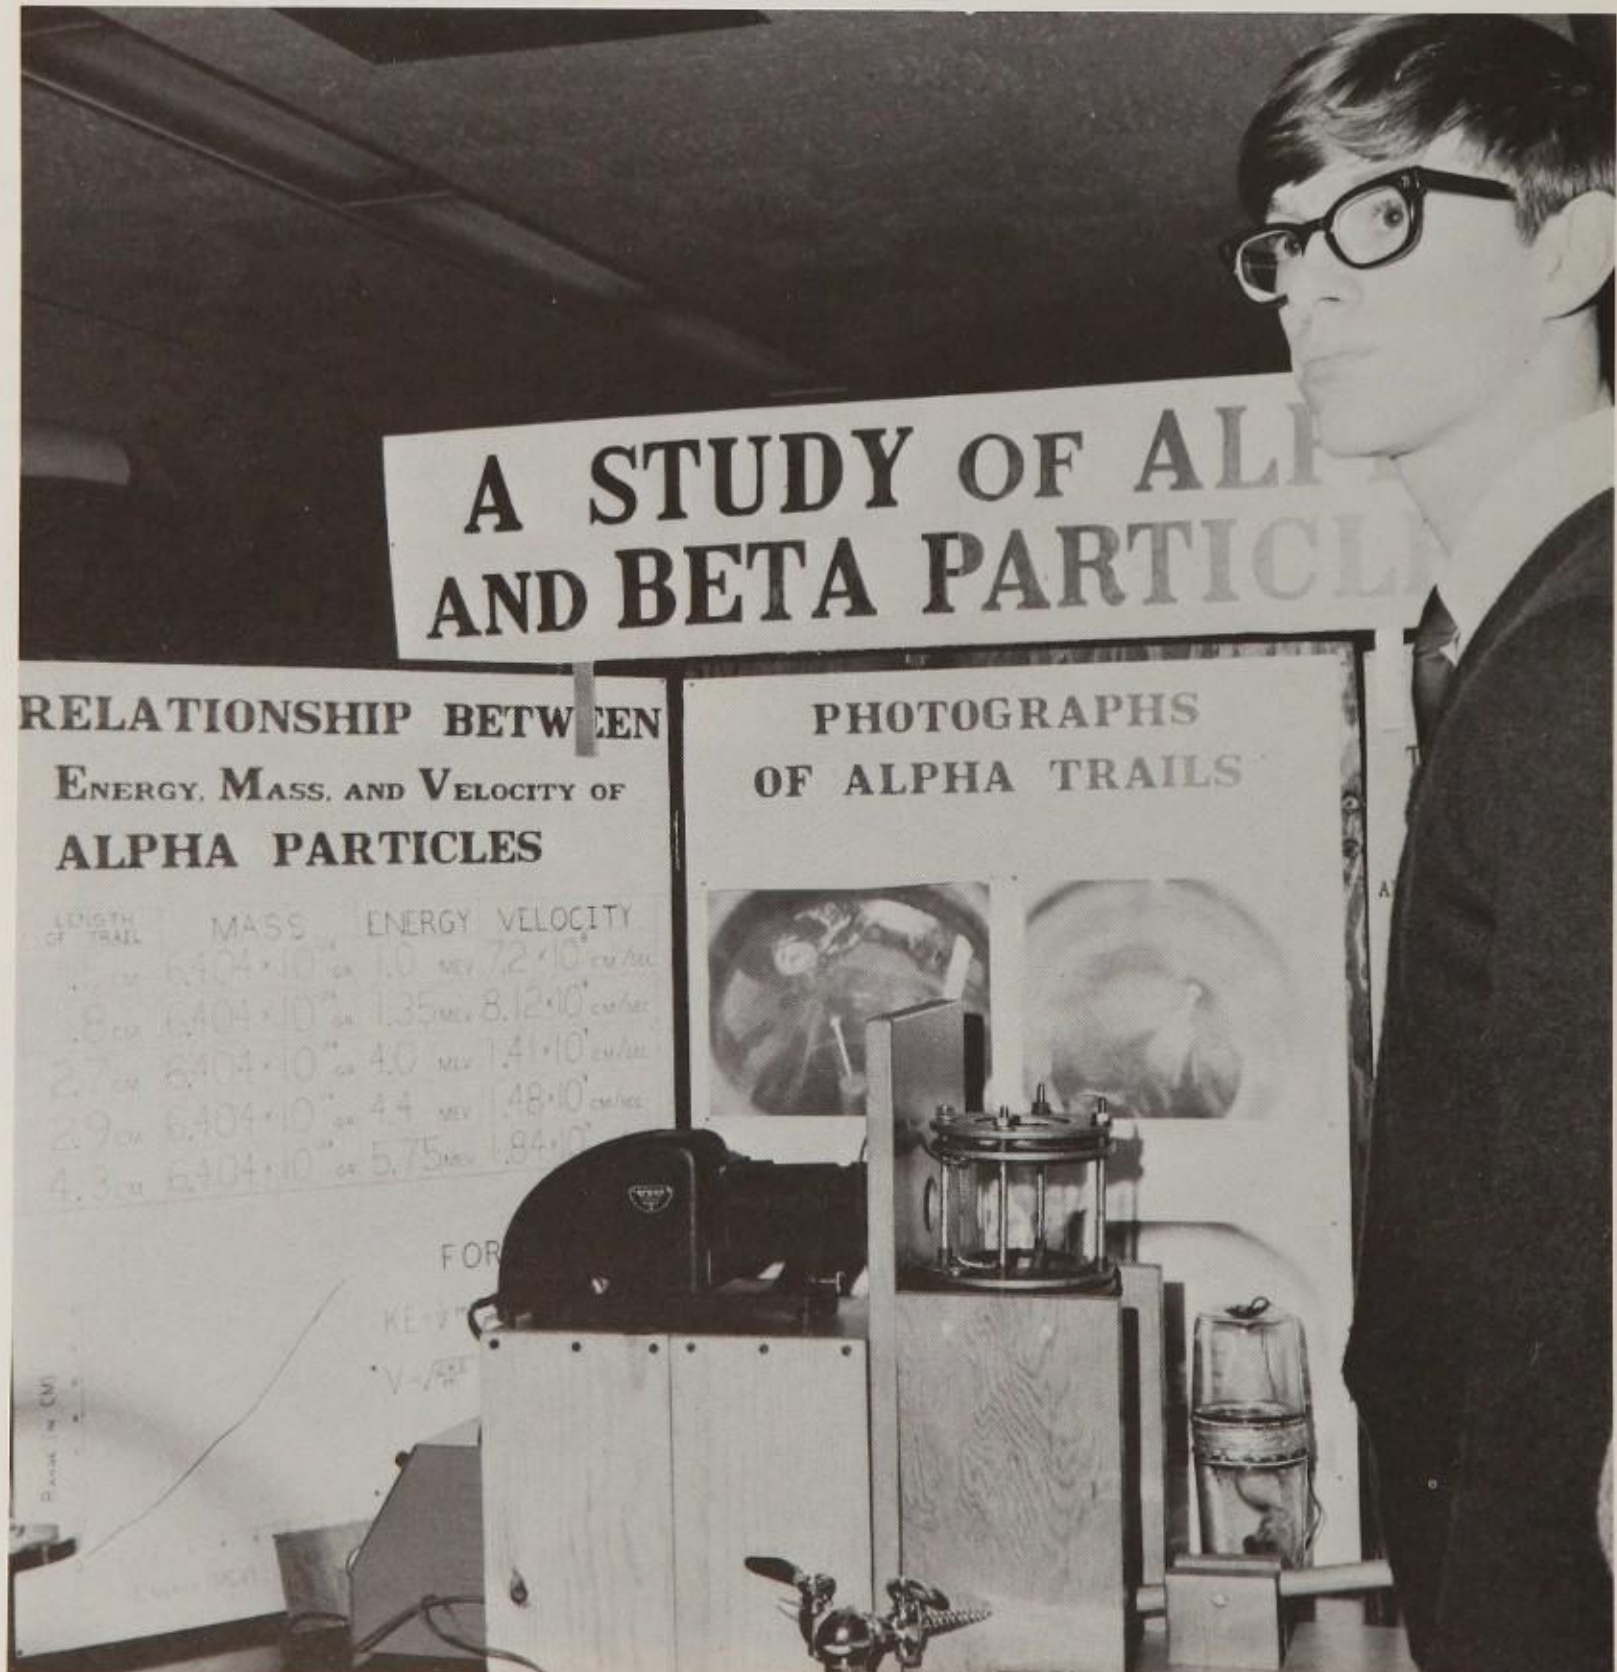

Scientists Display Projects

Thornridge's ninth annual science fair was divided into fourteen categories, ranging from anthropology and zoology to chemistry and physics. Ninety judges from surrounding industries, universities and high schools rated projects according to their scientific procedure, originality, neatness, and research. Although the number of entries decreased slightly this year, the quality of the projects was superior.

This year eighty students received firsts, yielding the highest percentage reached at Thornridge. Further competition awaited first prize winners at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

A contestant displayed his project.

Frictionless motion was demonstrated by Frank Shaw.

49

Henry Crull exhibited the Wimhurst Machine.

Speech Teams Take Honors

Our speech teams once again proved to everyone that Thornridge was number one in the area of speech. This year the individual events and debate teams participated in more than twenty-five contests and travelled to such schools as Thornton, East Peoria, Eastern Illinois University, and Bradley University.

At the South Suburban League contest held at Bloom, Thornridge captured first place in the novice and varsity divisions and received a first place for the play THE EXCEPTION AND THE RULE. Two of Thornridge's actors, Scott Taylor and Guy Trayling, were selected for the All South Suburban League cast.

At the district contest held here at Thornridge, our team once again ranked number one in every category and advanced to Sectionals.

With a display case overflowing with trophies, Thornridge saluted the many speech students who advanced our school toward the goal of being the best school in the state.

A comedy reading was presented by Liz McConnachie.

Maribeth Magnuson, Brant Larson, Larry Zollinger, Terry Lenhardt, Denise Deutsch, and Liz McConnachie won awards at the Eisenhower Speech Tournament.

Pam Fisher appeared in the contest play THE BRICK AND THE ROSE at the first Readers' Theater Presentation.

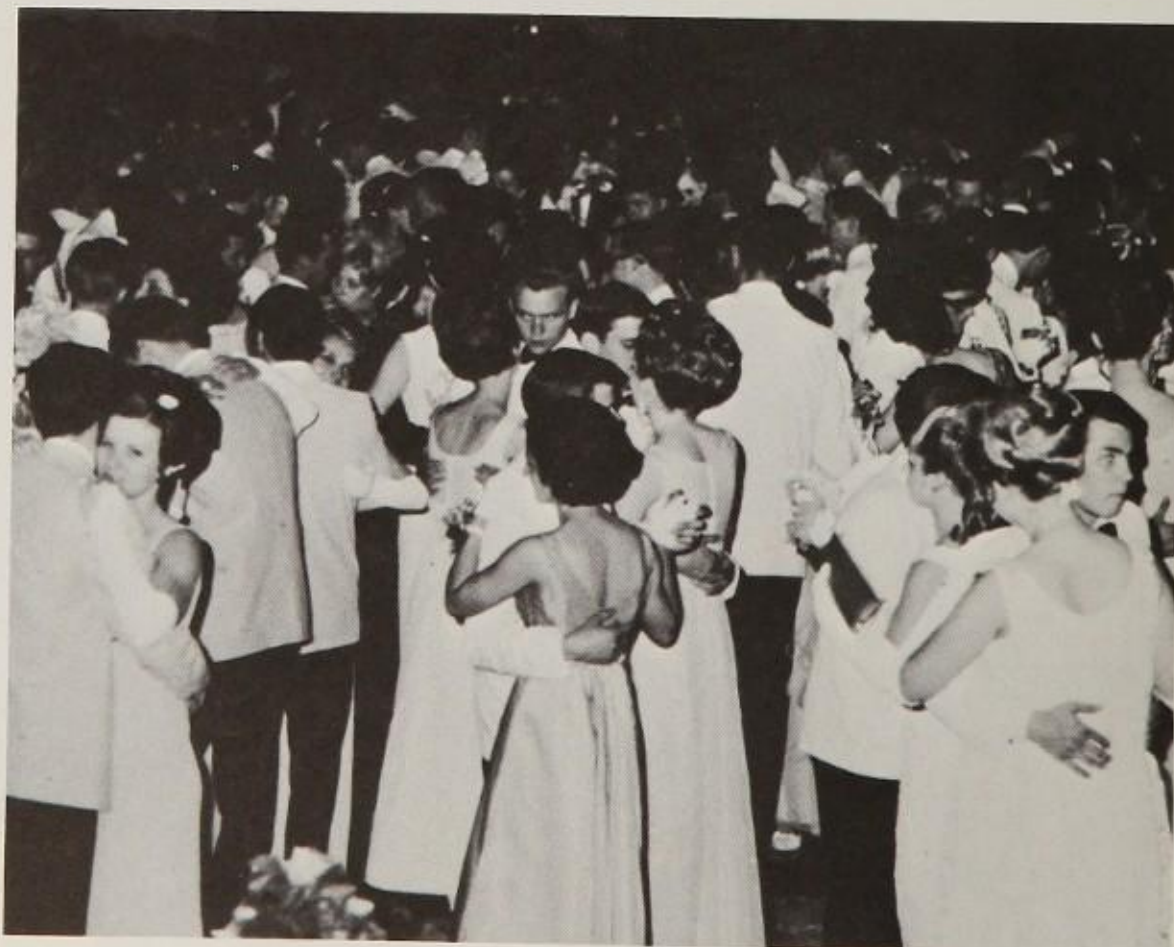

Ed Erickson delivered his original monologue.

“London Mist” Settles Over Thornridge

Large crystal chandeliers, flower carts, and an authentic pub helped create the English atmosphere of last year's Junior-Senior Prom, “London Mist.” The gym was transformed into a huge ballroom, complete with a low drop ceiling. Silhouettes of Big Ben and the London Bridge served as background for couples dancing to the music of Joe Gallagher. The announcement of the 1968 Prom Queen and Princess completed the evening. Debbie Vaundry and Joan Weeden, prom queen and princess, assumed their thrones and reigned for the rest of the evening.

Prom queen and princess started the coronation dance.

Couples danced under the spell of “London Mist.”

The 1967 royalty, Lynn Billmeyer and Linda Tsilis, gave their respective thrones to Debbie Vaundry and Joan Weeden.

53

The 1968 Prom Court danced to the music of Joe Gallagher.

"Mama Mia" Delights Mothers

Lasagna, tortoni, oh Mama Mia! — these were just a few of the ingredients of the 1968 Mother-Daughter Banquet, which was given in honor of the mothers. A special honor was presented to last year's American Field Service student, Guiti Afsarzaden.

The Italian atmosphere was made complete with red-checked table cloths, candles, and an Italian dinner. Following the dinner special guest Irene Hughes, the well-known psychic, entertained. Also featured was the presentation of the new "Mildred Garlock Award," originally the Girls Club Scholarship, to the outstanding senior girl. Topping the evening was the presentation of the May Queen and Maid of Honor, Jean Horner and Nancy Cadman.

Dancing daughters entertained mothers.

Seated: 1968 Maid of Honor, Nancy Cadman, 1968 May Queen, Jean Horner. Standing: Jan Lauridsen, Joan Weeden, Cindy Bradley, Sue Belligio, Maribeth Magnuson, Bev Strom, 1967 Maid of Honor, Sandi Nemecek, 1967 May Queen, Jean Bitunjac, Iris Mott, Diane Gorski, Cathy Bomba, Carol Mollo.

Psychic Irene Hughes made startling predictions.

"Hey, you got something I didn't get!"

Flowers and song added to the evening.

A well-deserved diploma brought smiles to this graduate's face.

The End Of The Journey

A meek freshman has changed into a mighty senior. Each graduate has undergone the metamorphosis process.

Freshman:

A slimy caterpillar wiggled around and tasted bits of everything.

Sophomore:

Inside the cocoon it had changed but remained dormant.

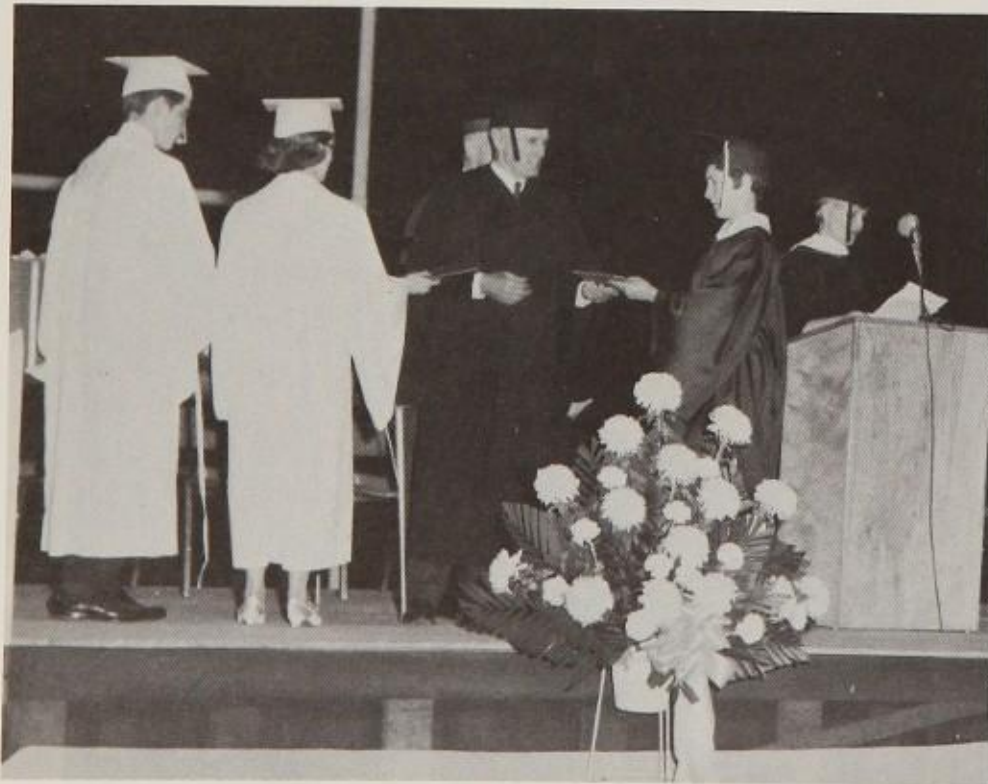

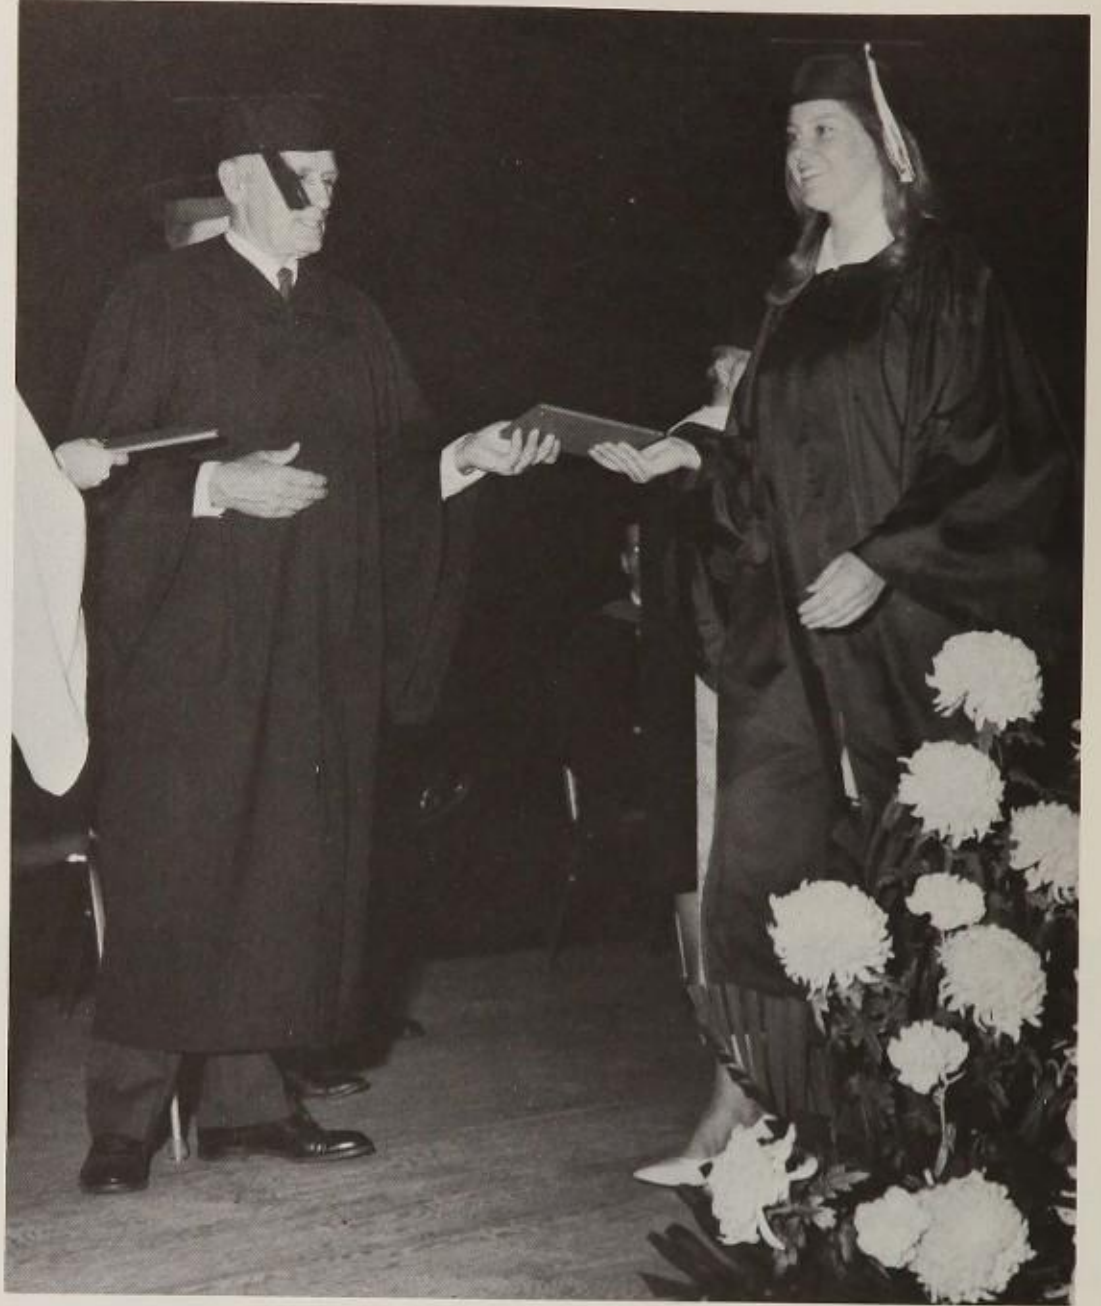

Junior:

Signs of life appeared and the creature broke from its shell.

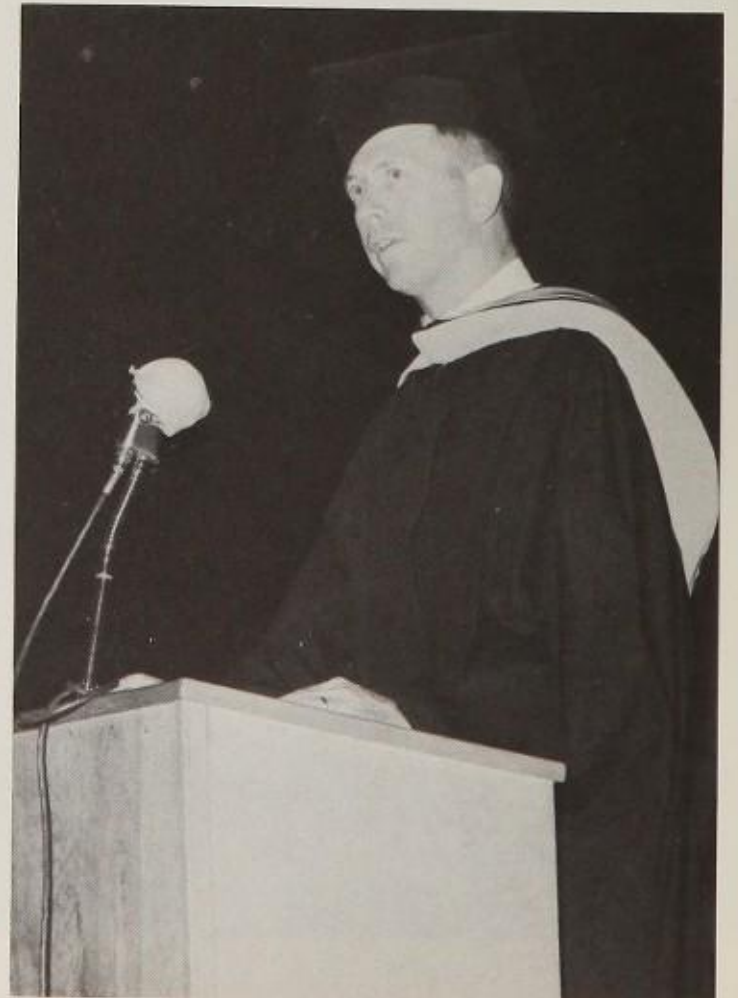

56 Senior:

The butterfly appeared and flew away to the huge world.

This class, led by Rick Vollmar and Nancy Stasack, started its new life on June 6, 1968.

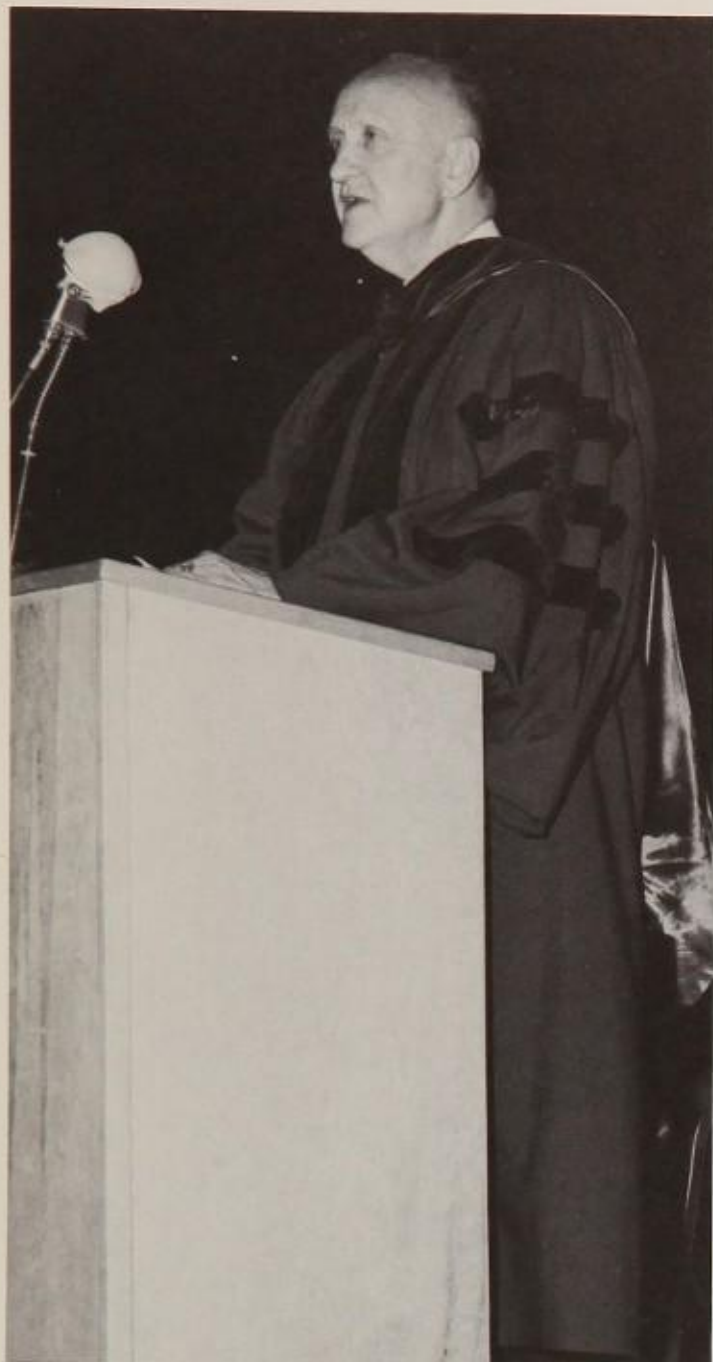

A diploma marked the end of a long journey.

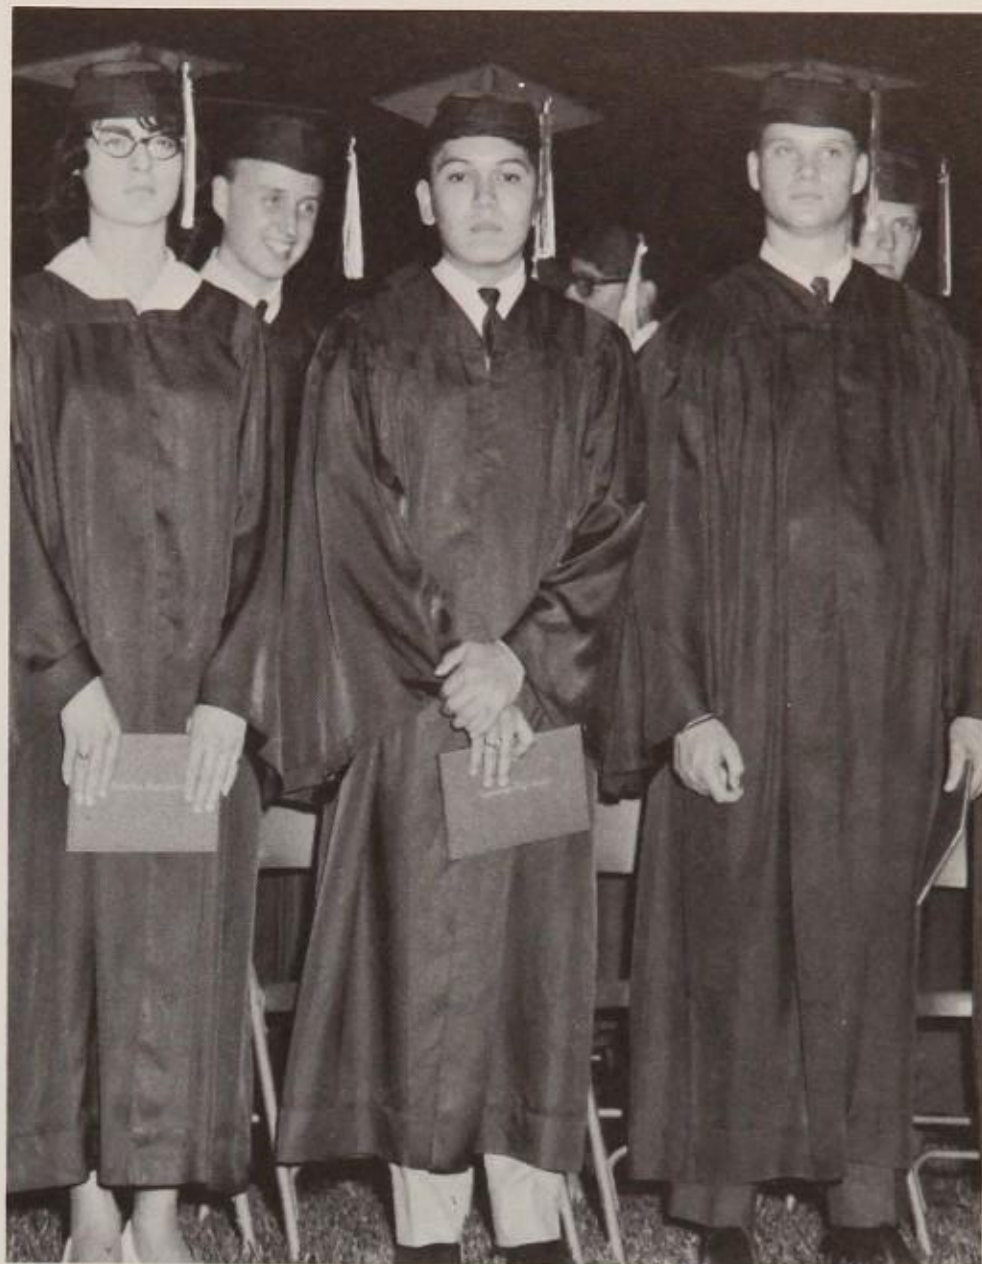

Mr. Augustus congratulated the seniors of 1968.

Doctor Logsdon delivered the farewell speech.

Graduates awaited the start of a new life.

Rough and Rugged Sport

A rough sport that brings fame and maybe fortune — that's what football is all about. Ask any guy on the football team, and he'll tell you that football is not all fun and games. It takes many long, hard hours of practice, as anyone could see if he went by Thornridge's football field any day of the week.

The varsity team's seven win-two loss record showed the result of all this effort, as the team placed second in the league. The coaches; Mr. Lunak, Mr. Ferguson, Mr. Russell, and Mr. Shatkowski; were responsible for the team's working and winning.

Freshmen Step Up

When a person first sees a freshman boy, he thinks of him as clumsy and uncoordinated, but those that try out for the football team later become athletically skilled young men. The freshmen put in as many hours as the varsity team; that is why the team had fairly good success.

The "A" team won three, lost three, and tied one; while the "B" team won two, lost three, and tied two. The coaches for this year were Mr. Tortorici, Mr. Stevens, Mr. Bonfigilo, and Mr. Walsh.

SCOT

In keeping with tradition, SCOT began the year by welcoming the new students and freshmen with the New Student Orientation. Other yearly activities were Gym Jams, SCOT Week, and the Homecoming Dance.

As the Christmas season drew near, SCOT demonstrated its holiday spirit by putting up a giant Christmas tree in the courtyard. The Christmas basket project provided much food for needy families.

Along with these traditional activities, SCOT, sponsored by Mr. Ricks and Mr. DePirro, had to make adjustments because of split shifts. These included changes in the constitution, in voting procedures, and in scheduling meetings and activities. Also, SCOT, along with other SSL schools, participated in a league spirit competition which is unique in this state. All in all, SCOT had a year of learning, change, and hard work.

Girls Club

Many students attended the various Girls Club activities. Although this club was primarily concerned with the girls of Thornridge, the whole student body enjoyed such functions as the Candy Sale and the Doll House-Stuffed Animal Show. Both of these projects were run as contests, and prizes were awarded to the top winners. The ambitious chairmen of other events planned the Big-Little Sister Tea, the Dad-Daughter Playnite, the Girls Club Dance, and the Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Among the other projects of the club was the sponsorship of Elizabeth Batista, the A.F.S. student, and the Honors Day Assembly for outstanding girls in each school department. The announcement of the May Queen Court, which is composed of junior girls, served as a climax for the Girls Club's year.

Under the leadership of the new sponsor, Mr. Tortorici, the Boys Club was active in other activities, such as the collection for the March of Dimes and the Hall Guide Christmas Party.

For each holiday of the year, editions were printed with different colors and extra pages. Students working on the staff are now required to have a journalism background.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Grossman, the staff exhibited much effort and time in order to deliver the BAGPIPE to the student body every week.

The PIPER, sponsored by Miss Krusinski and Mrs. Sieman, undertook the production of the yearbook. In 1969 PIPER was highlighted by many changes and new ideas. For the first time the yearbook production was designed as a full credit classroom course. In addition to meeting every day, the class had several weekend workshops to aid them in making deadlines. Grades were earned in accordance with the quality of the students' work. A new publishing firm, Wm. J. Keller Inc., offered several optional items, including special effects in art and photography and cover material.

This year the PIPER featured a photoessay opening section and a tribute to outstanding seniors. The teachers, posed informally, appeared in the academic section of the book. TALISMAN

TALISMAN, the annual best-of-literary-talent magazine, was published by members of Creative Writing classes. Mrs. Watts, the sponsor, chose the staff on the basis of talent. Material of the highest caliber submitted by the student body was selected for publication by this group. Each article was judged on two criteria: the intellectually aware idea behind the piece and the creativity in the written content. Through excellent use of these basic concepts, this year's TALISMAN illustrated artistic ability among students.

This year the Highlanders helped SCOT with the annual Christmas basket project by delivering the baskets of food to needy families in the area. The Lassies are known for their interpretation of Scottish dances, including the Highland Fling, the Sword Dance and the Drum Dance. This year a new dance, the Broadsword, was introduced. This dance was performed by four girls dancing around four swords placed together, point to point.

Girls became members by participating in a sports season offering one of the activities. A successful sock hop and gym jam fulfilled the two-fold purpose of social and recreational activities. Students, both members and nonmembers, had a chance to become acquainted with others while having fun. The Girls' Athletic Association also sponsored the Thornridge Synchronized Swim Club and the Gymnastics Club. In addition, the student must be nominated by the members and be recommended by his staff sponsor. New this year was the initiation ceremony for new members.

Students with outstanding records of character, scholarship, leadership, and service were elected to the National Honor Society either as a junior or a senior. The top seven percent of the junior class and the top fifteen percent of the senior class made up the total membership and met periodically with the sponsor, Mr. Stedt. The qualifications for membership were; a 3.0 grade average, a respect for school rules, dependability, courtesy, and cooperation; also, students had to be willing to give up spare time. In addition to learning the basic numerical layout of the books, assistants shelved books and filed pamphlets and other materials.

United Artists, the art club sponsored by Mr. Berwanger, met on Saturdays. During that time outings were planned, and guest speakers visited and informed the members about new art ideas.

Projects including all phases of art were undertaken. Before Christmas vacation, art students decorated the breezeway of A building. Christmas cards were also made and sent to nursing homes to cheer up the patients. P.S.T. And F.T.A.

To be a member of P.S.T., The Photographic Society of Thornridge, one had to enjoy taking and developing pictures. The covering of Thornridge events was an all year task. The club was in charge of taking and delivering the Homecoming and Prom pictures. Mr. Broome, the sponsor, and members learned and experimented with the most recent types of camera equipment.

The Future Teachers of America, sponsored by Miss Reiher, met once a month to discuss various projects. They participated in tutoring the special classes at New Hope School and observed grades one through five of some schools in District 149.

Slides on the teaching profession, as well as films pertaining to tutoring techniques, were shown to interested students. In order to raise money for teaching scholarships, the members sold mums and balloons during Homecoming. In addition to concessions and bake sales, each member paid annual dues of seventy-five cents.

This year the club started a collection of college catalogues, which were made available to anyone interested in obtaining information about a particular college.

The twirlers were also sponsored by Mrs. Goldie and received a superior rating when they performed in the state finals. The Thornridge Chapter of A.F.S., an organization founded in 1914 as a volunteer ambulance corps, was very active, having sent Laura Renfrow to Switzerland, Debbie Thomas to Belgium, and Jim McGinness to Germany. Betty Batista, from Brazil, was the foreign exchange student here at Thornridge. With these student exchanges the A.F.S. succeeded in fulfilling its purpose of improving understanding among the nations of the world.

While studying Russian language and culture, this club participated in many activities, such as working at football and basketball concessions and selling popcorn in order to purchase club sweatshirts. Making a Homecoming display and Russian Christmas caroling were some of their other activities. With projects and group efforts, Russian Club provided service to the school and recreation for the members.

Hall Guides

The main function of the Hall Guides was to check passes, guard posts, and assist people who were unfamiliar with the building. They also ran errands for the teachers and librarians. To become a hall guide, a student must be willing to give up a free period in order to assist others.

Hall Guides

Lettermen

The Thornridge Lettermen's Club consisted of all boys who won letters or numerals in one or more sports. To be eligible for membership in the club, lettermen had to meet certain requirements in their sports. These requirements included actual playing time or placement in meets. Sponsored by Mr. Fro-schauer, the club sold programs and was responsible for the color portraits of the All State athletes in the trophy case.

Lettermen Officers: Rick Hyman, Bob Roemer, Mike Egan, Todd Ekstrom.

Pep Club

Urging the teams to victory was the Pep Club. The new sponsor, Miss Williams, and the officers helped to promote school spirit at all athletic events. Not only did the student body demonstrate its enthusiasm at games, but also at pep assemblies, where students vied for the Pep Trophy. At Friday assemblies and games members showed their support by wearing the new Pep Club sweaters.

In addition to selling pom-poms, Pep Club members worked in concessions and the coatroom at home games. The money raised engaged bus service to bring supporters to away football and basketball games.

Superintendent

To provide the best education for all students under the present conditions was the major aim of Mr. William E. Augustus in his first year as superintendent of District 205. Due to the overcrowded situations at Thornridge and Thornton, Mr. Augustus made certain the success of the double shifts at Thornridge and the staggered shifts at Thornton.

In preparation for his present position, Mr. Augustus received his bachelors degree in physical education at Illinois State University and his masters degree at the University of Colorado. Recently he has been taking courses in advanced administration at the University of Illinois.

In addition to preparing for the North Central Association evaluation, attending P.&T.A. and Teacher Institute meetings, and completing his regular duties, the superintendent still managed to participate in assemblies and other activities of the two schools. In this way, Mr. Augustus succeeded in bringing about unity between the two schools.

Principals And Counselors

Mr. Tilton faced many problems in his first year as principal. The most difficult of these was the split shift, which hurt many of the school activities and closed the student cafeteria. However, Mr. Tilton succeeded in keeping the academic standing of the school at a high level.

To prepare for his new job, last summer Mr. Tilton attended the National Association of Secondary School Principals Convention. This was a five day convention which hosted such speakers as Mr. Dean Rusk and former Vice-President Hubert Humphrey.

Mr. Tilton served the school for eight years as Assistant Principal and is now looking forward to the future and his job as principal.

English

Successful use of the English language was this department's goal. With several new courses in the curriculum, the English Department, under the direction of Mr. H. Bean, pushed onward to reach this goal. Full course credit was given to journalism students, who published the BAGPIPE. For the first time the PIPER staff members received a full credit for producing the yearbook. Also, a credit was given to Creative Writing students, some of whom published the TALISMAN. Humanities, an experimental course, stimulated interest in the record of mankind through the study of literature, philosophy, art, and music.

In regular English classes students investigated various phases of the language in the classroom. Literature from ages past and present, the fundamentals of speech making, polishing the writing of themes, and the basic usage of our language were studied.

Art

Students who wished to express their thoughts and feelings could do so through one of the many art courses. This year the Art Department, under the direction of Mr. D. Berwanger, offered two new courses, Design II and Sculpture. With these new courses students were able to express themselves in a more explicit way.

Beginning with General Art, students learned the basic rules of art, including the use of perspective and shading. Advancing throughout the art program, students created more complicated paintings and sculptures and also worked with clay, ceramics, wood, and metal. The different works of art were displayed throughout "B" building.

Speech

The Speech Department, under the guidance of Mr. Jan Benjamin, reached new heights this year as more people than ever before realized the use of being able to speak in front of large groups. After getting over stage fright, the Speech II and Advanced Speech students gave their renditions of old favorites, varying from "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" to "Judgment at Nuremberg."

Success came early in the year, and Thornridge continued to gain both state and national recognition by placing first in the state and fourth in the nation. All students worked hard and spent long hours perfecting their work.

Language Department

The Language Department, under the guidance of Charles Avery, attempted to change the traditional ways of teaching to a newer method. This technique was designed to arouse the interests of the more passive student, thus bringing about complete class participation. The first and second year students became familiar with the speaking patterns of their chosen language; in the third and fourth years students worked towards expressing their own thoughts and opinions. Instructors introduced different situations to stimulate student discussion.

In order to extend their comprehension level, the students made use of tapes, movies, slides, and the language laboratory, where they listened to recorded materials and derived individual responses. This device enabled teachers to aid students on an individual basis, which helped to achieve the department's goals.

Math

Today's world has become an age of numbers. The need for mathematically oriented courses was stressed in this year's curriculum. The Math Department offered eight different fundamental courses, ranging from Basic Math to the newest, Computer Math. Students were instructed in computer programing by lectures and practice on IBM computer cards. Various teaching techniques, textbook materials, and objective tests were all applied by the department to develop an understanding of numbers.

Homemaking

Familiar sights and sounds in the Homemaking Department were the buzz of sewing machines, the clang of pans, and discussions of color schemes. Under the supervision of Miss Gantzert, the department head, girls prepared for future careers by learning through doing. Various aspects of clothing and textiles, interior design, home management, and foods and nutrition were subjects studied during the year. Girls used their practical experience by preparing and serving refreshments to their parents at the Home Ec. open house. The cherry pie contest also gave girls the chance to display technique when baking pies in competition. The experience provided by the Homemaking Department gave the girls an insight into what a real homemaker should be.

Science

The how and why questions of life, energy, and atoms presented a challenge to the science oriented. Investigation through experimentation and research were the basic principles applied in the courses of the Science Department, headed by Dr. Shouse. The curriculum offered various phases of the science world: General Science, Physical Science, Biology, Advanced Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. Through constructive thinking and intensive individual study, students made great strides in many scientific fields. Questions asked raised investigation, and through the end results conclusions were formed. Much knowledge was gathered through the trial-and-error method employed. The initial plunge into research stimulated many to participate in the annual science fair with top quality projects.

Social Studies

Today's problems stressed a deeper need for the understanding of past events. The Social Studies Department, headed by Mr. Carmichael, helped students towards this understanding. Humanities, this year's addition, introduced the cultural aspects of man. Other courses offered by the department were Sociology-Psychology, American Civilization and Communications, Contemporary Problems, Geography, Economics, and History. The Youth and Government program provided experience in writing, debating, and passing legislation in the chambers of the Senate and House of Representatives in Springfield. The senior trip to Washington, D.C. was also a project directed by the department. With the endeavors of the Social Studies Department, students gained a greater insight into today's problems.

As the enrollment increased, the library became an important aid for educational resources. Facilities were expanded with an enlarged collection of books, pamphlets, records, magazines, microfilm, and a new copy machine. Business

Students preparing for the future looked to the Business Department for guidance. General Business, a requirement for all business majors, introduced students to the business world. Films, workbooks, and class discussions were a fundamental part of this phase of their education.

The Business Machines lab gave the students an excellent background on the types of machines they would meet on various jobs. Additions to this lab included the Merchant printing calculator, the Victor printing calculator, full bank adding machines, executive typewriters, and dictaphone transcribers. This year a course in economics was offered to interested students. Under the guidance of Miss E. Sowers, the department helped students on their way to a future in the business world.

Special Education

The Special Education program of Thornridge was designed for the educable and trainable mentally handicapped. The main objective of the program was to give each student an opportunity to reach his own learning potential and to become self-proficient; gaining self-confidence through success was emphasized by the teaching of functional reading, writing and arithmetic. Safety, manners and good grooming were also taught by means of records and films. Under the direction of Barbara Midtyling, the Special Education program has become a joint effort of both Thornridge and Thornton.

Distributive Education

Distributive Education, sponsored by Mr. Maxwell, was a cooperative training program in which students worked in agreement with businessmen of the surrounding communities.

Students alternated between work and school on a half-day basis, receiving classroom instruction in the retail, wholesale, and service fields.

D.E. consisted of twenty-one seniors, who were in charge of decorating their own display window and the bookstore window. As their main project for the year, they also decorated Almar Plaza during Christmas season.

The D.E. Laboratory was equipped with printing sets and mannequins, making it one of the best in the nation.

Office Occupations

On-the-job training was offered to selected girls enrolled in the Office Occupations program. Daily classroom work, under the guidance of Mrs. Guglielmucci, included the practice of key-punching, transcribing, and figure typing for one and a half hours in the morning. The business techniques learned were used at afternoon jobs where the instructor was the boss.

Office Occupations students attended conferences and conventions to discuss business and leadership. Statewide contests were held in spelling, bookkeeping, typing, and shorthand. Another phase of business the girls experienced was raising money at a bake sale. Ending a successful year, a spring banquet was held for the students' employers.

Pilot

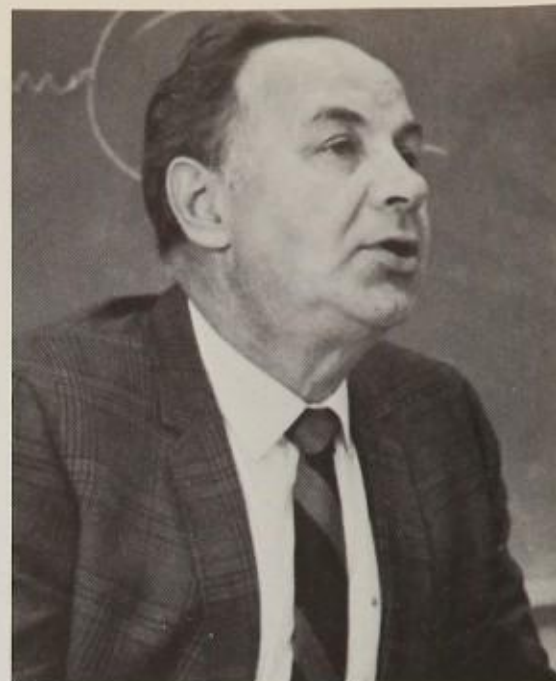

The award winning Program in Limited Occupational Training was initiated in 1964. This newest occupational program is for good, non-academic, work-bound students. The popular C.W.T. (Cooperative Work Training) phase coordinated academic subjects with supervised part-time employment.

Industrial Arts

The Industrial Arts Department, with such courses as Drafting, Mechanical Drawing, and Auto Mechanics, brought the basic knowledge of the many fields of industry to Thornridge students. This program, under Mr. Stuart, enabled the students to try their hands at many tasks involving the use of different equipment and machinery. These experiences gave the students a chance to decide which vocation would be suitable for them upon graduation. After mastering the various areas of study, the students were prepared for further training in specialized fields.

Diversified Occupations

Diversified Occupations offered juniors and seniors the opportunity of vocational training on a part-time, pre-apprenticeship basis. Students in this program alternated between school and work. In the morning they attended school and then went to their respective jobs, where they were trained for the type of work they were pursuing.

Students in this program had the opportunity to receive a wide and varied education beyond the realm of books. These students received an education that prepared them for their future in the working world.

ROW III—Allen Abrams, Michael Ysla, Eugene Cundare, David Goffin, Dan Cora, Larry Geile, Ed Collins, Ray Wilk.

Audio-Visual

The Audio-Visual Department provided students with greater interest and better understanding of their subjects through the use of instructional materials. Various pieces of equipment; including movie projectors and films, slide and opaque projectors, record players and tape recorders; were available for use by teachers in all departments.

The use of Audio-Visual materials minimized such learning barriers as time, place, learning ability and rate and provided a motivating force to gain student interest.

The Audio-Visual Department, under Mr. Keith Collins, provided facilities for the production of such school needs as color slides and transparencies, posterboards, and different printed materials produced by the off-set press.

Music

The Music Department, comprised of all the choirs and bands, brought many honors to Thornridge this past year. The band was honored by appearing at the Northwestern Band Day, where three members were chosen for the All-State Band. The choirs gained recognition from outside activities. The Girls Glee Club sang at the Museum of Science and Industry for the annual "Christmas Around the World" program. The Chorale appeared on television for the Sunday Evening Club televised from Orchestra Hall.

Large crowds were attracted to many of the choir and band appearances, which included pep assemblies, football games, and the annual Christmas and spring concerts.

Girls P. E.

Whirlwinds of energy breezing around "F" building have been reported throughout the year. Impossible? Due to the efforts of Miss Coffland, the new head of the girl's physical education department, and other female coaches, girls have displayed boundless energy in physical fitness. The principles of coordination and clear thinking and the fostering of teamwork and sportsmanship were the guidelines followed in swimming, gymnastics, rhythms, and sports. Besides athletic activities, girls participated in courses of first aid, health, and driver's education to complete their program in physical education. All this hard work and fun stimulated the energy of the girls, while developing agility and limberness, thus creating whirlwinds.

Boys P. E.

The Boys Physical Education Department outlined a well-rounded health program through various physical activities, such as gymnastics, swimming, wrestling, weight-lifting, and other traditional sports. Boys were taught specific skills and knowledge necessary to develop healthy bodies, as well as active minds.

Even with the double shifts, students were able to train after school for interscholastic athletics for competition with other schools.

This year a new weight lifting machine was added to the equipment, and every boy was able to make use of it during the year.

Several teachers were added to the department, which is headed by Mr. Frank Froschauer, extending the program to specialized areas.

Nurses

All juniors and freshmen were required to receive "checkups" from the nurses, Mrs. Riordan and Mrs. Francis. After a health interview about eating habits and dental care, the vision tester and the audiometer were used to check the eyes and ears of the students. Pamphlets concerning skin care, diet, and other areas of personal hygiene were offered to anyone interested. The nurses were always available for injured students, and beds were provided for the sick.

P&TA And Faculty Association

The Parent and Teacher Association met once a month in order to bridge the communication gap between students, teachers, and parents. Parents attending the meetings, presided over by Mrs. Abraham, obtained a better understanding of the relationships between the students and faculty.

Teachers of Thornridge and Thornton composed the Faculty Association. The president, Mr. Balstrode, and the forty-five members met once a month to discuss improvement of education and teacher welfare. Interschool topics under discussion were teaching methods employed, relationships between the administration and faculty, and the relations among the two schools' faculties.

Faculty Association: Mr. Clauson, Mr. Sarantakos, Mr. Van Dyke, Mr. McCune, Mr. Burgess, Mr. Balstrode, Mrs. Bisberg, Mr. Buckman.

Seniors Reflect And Project

The time went all too fast. Never again will we experience the chilling excitement of our first football game; never again will we walk down the halls, shouting to friends or talking quietly to that "special person."

These are memories now and must remain so. Now we must plan for the future: college, employment, and perhaps a family. It is essential that we solve difficulties as they arise: failure, the draft, death. Above all we cannot be afraid to experience life, because experience brings wisdom, which is essential to all.

For the first time the PIPER is recognizing eight outstanding seniors, who were chosen by the faculty and seniors. Those selected were: James McGinness for academic achievement, Diane Gorski for genuine friendliness, Bob Roemer for athletic effort, Jean Bitunjac for participating in so many projects, Maribeth Magnuson for speech abilities, George Sampson for leadership, James Fuehmeyer for his well-rounded personality, and Sue Anderson for school spirit.

Senior Officers: ROW I—Jean Bitunjac, vice-president. ROW II—Patti Thor-meyer, treasurer; Bob Liss, president; Sue Belligio, secretary.

Juniors Earn Privileges

With the purchasing of class rings, the Junior Class achieved upperclass status and privileges.

The American Civilization and Communications class was restricted to juniors. College-bound students took the SAT, ACT, and NMSAT tests to meet college entrance requirements. Aside from classroom work, juniors served as graduation ushers, worked on the Junior-Senior Prom, and held offices open only to upperclassmen. Some students were also elected to the honorary societies, N.H.S. and Quill and Scroll.

The Junior Class members successfully broke away from the underclassmen stage in order to prepare for their last year at Thornridge.

Sophomores' Responsibilities Grow

The sophomore year, an in-between stage, was difficult for former freshmen as they began to encounter new situations.

English classes were divided into one semester of English and one semester of speech. Developing new skills in speech, many students went on to participate in tournaments, often winning trophies for their achievements. Rules of the road and behind-the-wheel training were taught in conjunction with the new state laws in driver education. The N.E.D.T. test was given to interested college-bound sophomores. Their basketball team displayed outstanding skill in finishing the season.

Gaining identification in various fields prepared the sophomore class for the time ahead.

Freshmen Adjust To Thornridge

Thornridge's largest freshman class of over one thousand students found themselves in a new environment this past year. The students quickly adjusted to new faces and unfamiliar schedules and soon became a recognized segment of the student body.

Freshmen were welcomed to Thornridge at the SCOT New-Student Orientation assembly and the Girls Club Big-Little Sister Tea in September. As the year progressed, students found new opportunities opening for them, including SCOT board memberships and class offices. Climaxing the year for the freshmen was the annual Frosh-Soph Party.

Incopetents Klub

The most exclusive club in the school, the IK's, once again was a most successful "operation."

The club president took first place in frog noises, while the vice-president, not to be outdone by no. 1, took honors in owl screeching. Other members excelled in: most time spent out of classes, learning the alphabet, learning numbers 1 through 10, breaking typewriters, losing keys, and the most anecdotes. For information on requirements for club membership, contact the zoo keepers, who hibernate in TR's HAPPY RESTING PLACE!

fill, I'm sure glad you sat by me in Bookkeeping
or I don't think I would have passed, especially the Practical Set. Good luck in every thing you do. Have fun this summer.

Acknowledgments

On this page, the last in your 1969 PIPER, I would like to thank all of the staff members for their part in producing this book. Miss Krusinski, Mrs. Sieman, and Wayne Studniarz deserve a special thought of gratitude. Without the sponsors' guidance and Wayne's photography, the creation of the book would have been impossible.

On behalf of the staff and sponsors, I would like to extend our deep appreciation to P.S.T. for the use of its facilities, Root Studio, Wm. J. Keller Inc., and the administration. The Pointer Publication also deserves recognition for making the photos in our index available to us.

I am leaving Thornridge and the yearbook behind me now; yet I am sure that the experience and knowledge I obtained will be of great value to me in my future years.

you,

June 1969

Read what Pat wrote + I agree all the way. This has been some year!!! who will forget that great Washington trip - with those problems we had to work out. For the last 2 years, remember all the "goofy" things we did. Like those books out loud in Eng. ??? + gym class you know what I mean.

Don't ever give up - things will work out between (for the better) you + Barry. (for a lot of reasons, but for I want both of you at the wedding. Oh yeah, thanks for letting me ^{know} that ^{for the dress} Modern Bride - one in particular. After H.S. let's always keep in touch, even if we miles apart. ok?!

Don't forget Mr. Thomsen. (getting out of here wow) That about sums it up for these past years. Except take care of yourself - Be Good.

Best wishes for a very happy future.

Sandy Love 4 Bob
